Fuller to Expand With Area Industrial Growth

100 to Be Added to Payroll Shirt Production Increases 50 P. C.

Aware of the growth of the mid-Hudson valley and particularly the industrial expansion of the Kingston area, one of Kingston's oldest industries is planning a program of growth and expansion over the next few months which will increase its labor force and also its present day production by over 50 per cent. That business is The Fuller Shirt Company, Inc., at 45 Pine Grove avenue, business which was established in Kingston in 1892 by Isaiah Fuller, and which has grown from a modest beginning to become one of the city's leading businesses, shipping its product to every one of the 48 states in the United States.

CONFIDENCE in the future for the area and awareness of the fact that this expansion program will bring into Kingston and its vicinity many new families and much additional help with its consequent demand for greater production, The Fuller Shirt Company management has for some time been engaged in a planning program to re-align its plant, equipment and business policies to meet this condition.

"We have every confidence in the future growth of Kingston and its adjacent communities," William T. Fuller, president of the company said, "and we plan to grow with the area."

Mr. Fuller, president of the company and Clarence S. Rowland, Jr., secretary and general manager of The Fuller Shirt Company, Inc., explained that for several months a program of re-alignment and re-adjustment of the company plant facilities has been going on. New and more modern equipment and methods will be introduced to increase production.

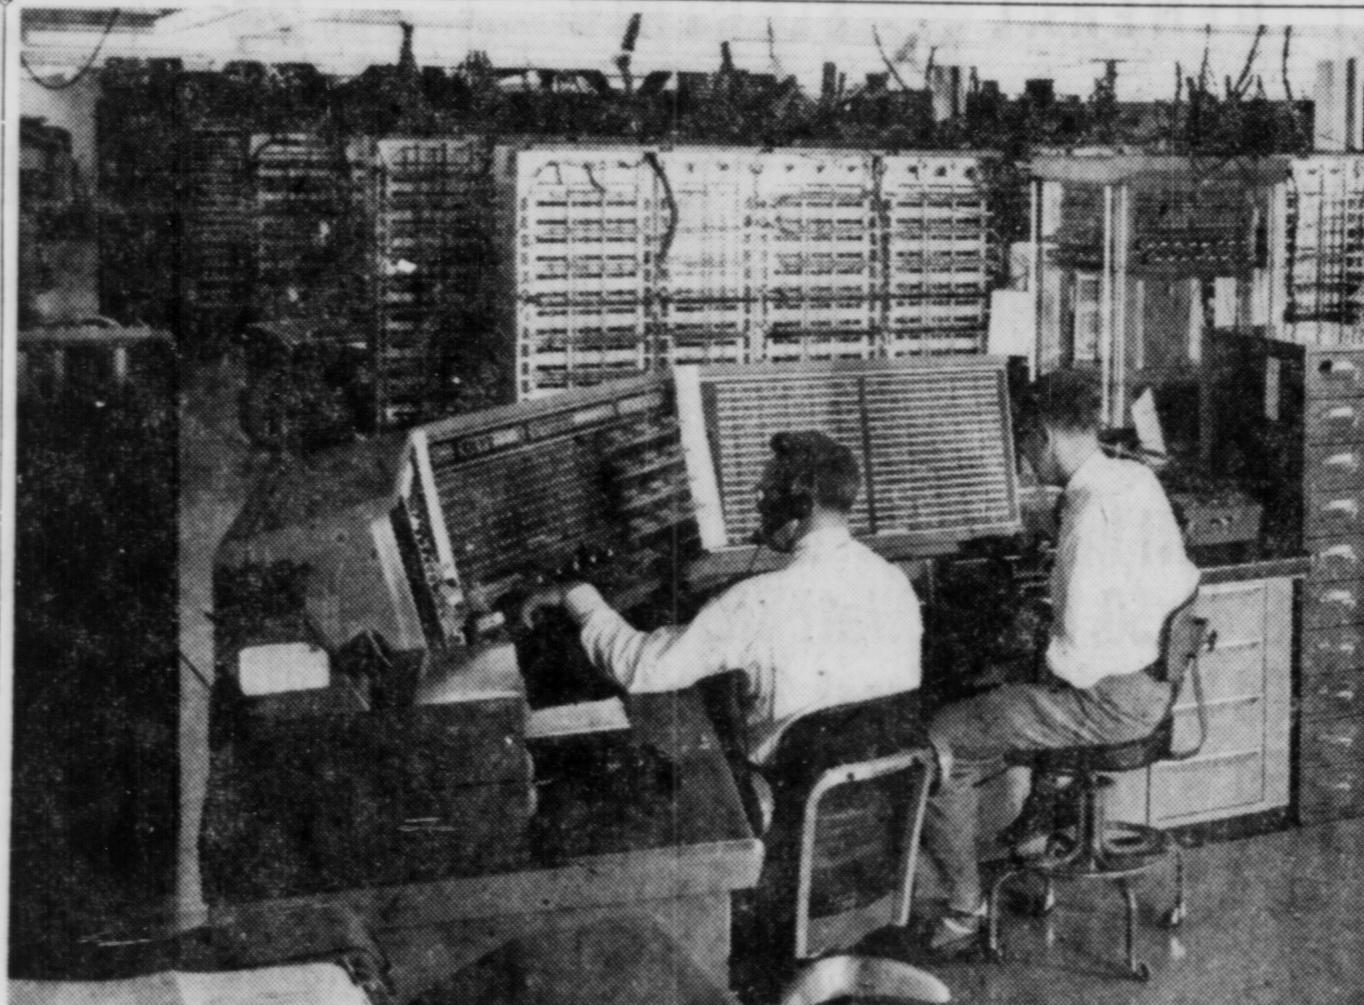

A PRODUCTION analysis has been under way by Arnold Bellini, production manager, for several months to ascertain ways, methods and necessary machines required to increase production.

"We will need an increase of approximately 50 per cent in our working staff to meet our new schedule. This will mean in excess of 100 new employees, mainly machine operators, pressers and shipping department employees," said Mr. Rowland in outlining the expansion program.

Modernization of the plant equipment and new methods will account for much of the increased production while new techniques in the trade will be incorporated to bring the production up to anticipated demand.

Mr. Rowland pointed out that in this area, with new families

PART OF "SAGE" SYSTEM—This is part of the intricate "SAGE" system, which newsmen saw at Lincoln Laboratory, Massachusetts Institute of Technology, where technicians are working on the automation of war by revolutionizing air defense. "SAGE" is an abbreviation for semi-automatic ground environment. International Business Machines, with a plant in Kingston, manufacture parts for the digital computer.

Press Sees Electronic 'Brain' to Guard U. S.

By ELTON C. FAY
AP Military Affairs Reporter

Lexington, Mass., Jan. 18 (AP)—The United States is pushing the building of electronic brain-nerve centers to meet the present threat of potential enemy bombers and the future menace of long range missiles.

Under test at the Lincoln Laboratory here is the prototype of an eventual chain of such units—in which computing machines, radar warning systems and communications networks will provide, automatically and almost instantly, information needed for waging air battles.

OFFICIALS of the laboratory, run by the Massachusetts Institute of Technology, said work on other centers will be carried on, even though operation of the first unit still is in test stage. They told visiting reporters the "critical nature" of defense needs required immediate start on other installations.

The laboratory, under contract with the air force, has developed the complex system called "SAGE"—named from the words "semi-automatic ground environment."

IT IS A SYSTEM built around a new type of electronic, digital computer which, among other features, can store up statistics in its "memory" tube and feed them out at split-second speed to provide answers.

The computer, operating at a rate termed "hundreds of thousands of times faster than man," receives information flashed from radar stations on the ground, in the air and on offshore towers.

A COMMANDER at SAGE system sector headquarters thus would before him a constantly changing picture of the course of a battle between invading bombers and interceptor planes, antiaircraft guns and antiaircraft missiles like the army's Nike.

In a command post room, illuminated only by dim blue light, reporters saw the television-like screens of cathode ray tubes. On these black faces blinks green light traceries of maps, of locations of defensive forces, of simulated planes bound on "saturation" raids toward Cape Cod and the New England coast.

Christmas Seal Sale Realizes $27,967 in County

To date $27,967.95 has been contributed by Ulster county people to the 1955 Christmas Seal Sale. This was the report made to the board of directors of the Ulster County TB & Health Association at their January meeting.

Dr. Frederic W. Holcomb Sr., president, and the board voted a sincere thanks to James L. Rowe, chairman, the township chairmen, and the city committee, as well as the hundreds of volunteers who helped to make possible this excellent showing for the health program of tuberculosis prevention and the building of physical and mental health in Ulster county. Reminders are now being mailed to those who have forgotten to mail their contributions. A report by Mrs. William McNamee, chairman of the rehabilitation committee, revealed that the occupational therapy program for the patients was developing very satisfactorily at the Ulster County Tuberculosis Hospital. The committee for the Christmas party, she said, had done a wonderful job.

A NEW ROOM has been finished by Dr. Herbert Schwartz, medical director, so that this program may expand and develop as the need is shown.

The chairman reported that she and Miss Florence Cordts serve on a committee, who visit the patients twice weekly and do the necessary purchasing of needed articles for them. Mrs. McNamee said this service is

Meany Rejects Ike's School Plan

Washington, Jan. 18 (AP)—AFL-CIO President George Meany today rejected President Eisenhower's school aid plan. He proposed that Congress vote four times the amount the administration has asked.

Meany called on Congress to provide at least a billion dollars a year for the next five years. Eisenhower wants 250 million dollars a year for five years, with the money to be used to help states and local school districts build needed facilities.

The chief of the newly combined AFL-CIO outlined organized labor's legislative aims in an article in the American Federationist, his organization's monthly magazine.

Meany said education aid should be "the first order of business" in this session of Congress. He said Eisenhower's plan is inadequate.

The administration's program, while making a significant concession to the need for federal aid, adds up to another manifestation of the "too little, too late" policy," Meany said.

"Labor believes that stinting the schools is the height of false economy. In order to build the necessary schools and provide higher pay standards for teachers so as to attract more qualified people to this profession, the federal government should commit itself to an investment of at least a billion dollars a year for the next five years."

Consideration of a complete overhauling of the entire Mutual Aid system paving the way to iron out existing problems was requested by President Eldred Smith of the Ulster County Volunteer Firemen's Association during the group's monthly meeting Tuesday night.

He introduced Fred Linke from the DuMont Laboratories who spoke on mobile communications in other towns and counties, how they served these communities and the cost among other items. Rocky Mamitsch of Tappan also spoke on the mobile communication systems.

Fire Chief James Brett of Kingston attended the first meeting since his appointment

Six Chest Directors to Be Elected

Six new directors at large for the Kingston Area Community Chest, Inc., will be elected at the annual membership meeting tonight at the George Washington School.

Included in the slate are two new directors occasioned by the enlargement of the board due to the admission of the Volunteers of America to agency membership. The remaining four directors will succeed those whose terms have expired.

THE ANNUAL meeting will begin at 8 p.m., following a dinner at 6:30. Although reservations for the dinner are closed, members will be admitted at 8 o'clock for the business meeting.

Under the Community Chest's by-laws, every person who is a member of the corporation and entitled to vote at the meeting.

The board of directors is constituted of two representatives named by each member agency, plus a number of elected directors at large. The number of directors at large must always exceed the number of agency representatives by one.

OFFICERS ARE elected by the board of directors at its organizational meeting, which is held within 30 days of the annual meeting.

Dr. Kenneth Neal Alexander, pastor of St. James Methodist Church, will be the main speaker at tonight's dinner meeting. Mrs. John B. Glennon is chairman of arrangements, and G. Herbert DeKey and Clifford Smith served as the speakers' committee.

Members of the nominating committee are: L. V. Bogert, chairman; Louis R. Netter, George J. Silkworth, Herman J. Eaton and John H. Haulenbeck.

In a command post room, illuminated only by dim blue light, reporters saw the television-like screens of cathode ray tubes. More Kingston People In Upper Income Class

New York, Jan. 18 (Special)—Economic dreams of 20 years ago have become a reality in Kingston. Families that were once in the $2,500 income class have graduated to the $4,000 or over bracket. Those that once had $4,000 a year are in the plus $6,000 category.

Relatively few, on the other hand, remain in the low income groups, thanks to the general good business conditions which have produced a high employment ratio and better wage scales.

Details of the advances in earnings are carried in the 1955 Consumer Markets annual. Included is data from every part of the country.

It shows that in Kingston 54.1 per cent of the consumer units had spendable incomes last year after payment of taxes, of $4,000 or more.

This compares favorably with the situation elsewhere in the United States, where 51.1 per cent of the consumer units are in that income class.

Downtown Study Is to Be Asked Survey Won't Cost Kingston Money

A request for a preliminary study of a local urban redevelopment plan for the city's downtown area is expected to be made at the February Common Council meeting, Mayor Frederick H. Stang said today.

Information gained by the mayor and a group of local officials in Schenectady yesterday will also be forwarded next month to the aldermen, the mayor said.

THE PRELIMINARY federal survey, if approved by the council, would be made without cost to the city. The study will take from nine months to a year and when finished it will be forwarded for consideration of the council.

With the mayor on the Schenectady tour were Corporation Counsel James J. Abernethy; City Clerk Bernhardt S. Kramer; Second Ward Alderman William S. Keyser; Seventh Ward Alderman Frank C. Sass and Alexander Yosman, manager of Colonial Gardens, the city's state-sponsored housing development.

SIX new directors at large for the Kingston Area Community Chest, Inc., will be elected at the annual membership meeting tonight at the George Washington School.

Included in the slate are two new directors occasioned by the admission of the Volunteers of America to agency membership. The remaining four directors will succeed those whose terms have expired.

THE GROUP obtained information on an urban development plan in the upstate city that will be largely for industrial and commercial purposes.

About 12 acres in a section of the city's older business section is involved in one project, and the city is considering another, which is due to start in the spring. The razing of buildings is under way on the first project.

The group conferred for several hours with Schenectady officials, including the mayor, city manager and supervisor of the projects.

THE MAYOR said that he and the others in the group were impressed with what they had learned on the tour. They will forward details in a letter to the aldermen.

If the city decides on an urban development project, or new housing for the downtown area, selection of the site or sites is expected to depend upon findings by federal officials in the preliminary survey.

It was indicated in discussions of the proposal several weeks ago that the site could be anywhere in the fifth, sixth or seventh wards. A small area in the sixth ward has already been cleared as a required phase of the Colonial Gardens housing development.

OFFICERS ARE elected by the board of directors at its organizational meeting, which is held within 30 days of the annual meeting.

Dr. Kenneth Neal Alexander, pastor of St. James Methodist Church, will be the main speaker at tonight's dinner meeting. Mrs. John B. Glennon is chairman of arrangements, and G. Herbert DeKey and Clifford Smith served as the speakers' committee.

New York, Jan. 18 (AP)—An airline pilot, flying through snow and fog without radio or navigating instruments, brought his plane with 24 persons aboard to a two-hour-late but safe landing at La Guardia Field last night.

Pilot Robert Francis, 37, had only a compass to guide him and a flashlight to see it on a flight from Boston.

Lions Hear About Experiences of Exchange Pupils

Three Kingston High School seniors, one a visitor from New Zealand, were special guests of the Lions Club yesterday at the Governor Clinton Hotel.

The three young ladies—Jennifer Jones, the New Zealand lass, Carol Rylance and Nancy Silvestri—delighted the club membership with descriptions of their visits and studies abroad under an international program sponsored by the American Field Service in cooperation with the Prisma Club of the local high school.

Mrs. Rylance, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Rylance and Miss Silvestri, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Anthony Silvestri, visited in Scandinavian countries last summer.

Mrs. Jones described some of the occupations of the people of New Zealand, pointing out that farming was one of the most important, particularly sheep and dairy farming. Research stations have been established to develop the best breeds of animals. New Zealand is the world's leading exporter of dairy produce.

SHE EXPLAINED that farms ranged from about 60 to 100 acres each and that the climate was mild, never falling below 40 degrees.

Students in New Zealand often must work their way through college, she said. One source of income available to the student is fruit picking—apples, peaches, apricots. All citrus fruits are consumed within New Zealand—(Continued on Page 17, Col. 1)

Saugerties Board Receives Salary Plan From Teachers

A teachers' committee which has been studying the question of salaries submitted its report to a special meeting of the Saugerties Board of Education last Monday evening.

The salary plan submitted for study has four schedules. The first is for teachers without the AB degree or its equivalent; the second for those with the AB degree or its equivalent; the third for teachers who have earned 15 approved hours toward the Master's Degree and the fourth for those who have earned a master's degree or its equivalent.

The typical family locally has more money to spend at present and is in the mood to spend it.

Of interest is the manner in which the bigger earnings are being used. According to a Federal Reserve Board study, those with incomes above $4,000 are 60 per cent more likely than others to buy major household equipment or furniture.

They buy four times as many new automobiles per 100 families as those with incomes below $4,000.

They also buy better homes, more electrical gadgets, eat better and do more traveling.

Early Trade Is Reported In Stocks Exchange to Get Sales in March

New York, Jan. 18 (AP)—The thousands of persons over the country who managed to get a portion of the new Ford Motor shares had an immediate profit today.

Even before managers of the huge underwriting had closed the books on the offering, the stock was selling at a premium of more than $5 a share. In the over-the-counter market this morning, the shares were quoted at $70 bid, $70.25 asked.

Dealers said trading was fairly active.

LIMITED BUYING and selling of the stock started late yesterday immediately after clearance by the Securities and Exchange Commission of the 10,200,000-share offering at a price of $64.50 a share.

Trading in the shares began in Montreal and Toronto yesterday, but dealings there today were described as on the quiet side.

Easing in Demand For Homes, Cars Stalls Inflation

Chicago, Jan. 18 (AP)—A New York economist said today that the recent easing in demands for housing and automobiles appears to have removed the immediate danger of "an inflationary blowout."

Roy L. Reiverson, vice president and economist of the Bankers Trust Co., said it is "not altogether disconcerting" to note that demands in some sectors of the economy are beginning to subside.

IN A PREPARED address at a conference of bank credit executives sponsored by the American Bankers Assn., he said:

"Several basic industries have reached capacity operations, shortages of materials have begun to appear, and prices of industrial commodities have climbed at a quickened pace. Should the outlook indicate continued rapid expansion in demands for goods, we might justifiably entertain serious doubts regarding the economy's ability to resist the accumulating inflationary pressures."

He said there are indications that new building and auto construction, although below 1955, will still be high in comparison with previous good business years. He added:

"FOR THE TIME being, consequently, it seems reasonable to expect any decreases in home building, automobile output, and the like to help relieve some of the pressures upon the supply of steel and other basic raw materials rather than to precipitate a general business downturn."

He said the expansion in bank loans last year was greater than generally anticipated. However, he added, "the credit picture lacks any real signs of near-term trouble . . . in all, it is difficult to detect evidence of that vulnerability of credit which sometimes appears at the crest of an economic boom."

HE SAID the odds seem to favor a tapering off in the recent rapid growth of credit.

William M. Lockwood, president of the Howard National Bank & Trust Co., Burlington, Vt., said the banker "must be realistic and must help the farmer with his financial planning to their mutual advantage."

He said the number of acres being farmed in the nation still is too great, and added:

"In the circumstances, the banker must be flexible and ready to adjust payment plans. Loans, originally scheduled for repayment in two or three years, will have to be extended to four or five years."

"In instances, the bank debt and outside debts, which have accumulated, will have to be consolidated. Intermediate term loans will, in effect, replace short term loans in certain types of farming."

Jewish Sunday School To Hold Purim Play

Woodstock, Jan. 18—A Purim play and party is being planned by the Woodstock Jewish Sunday school to be given at the holiday time in the latter part of February. Plans for the Purim festival were discussed at a meeting Thursday of the parents group of the Sunday school. According to Mrs. Inez Finkel, teacher of the Sunday school, several older children of the community who are not members of the class are eager to participate in the play and will join in the preparations for the event.

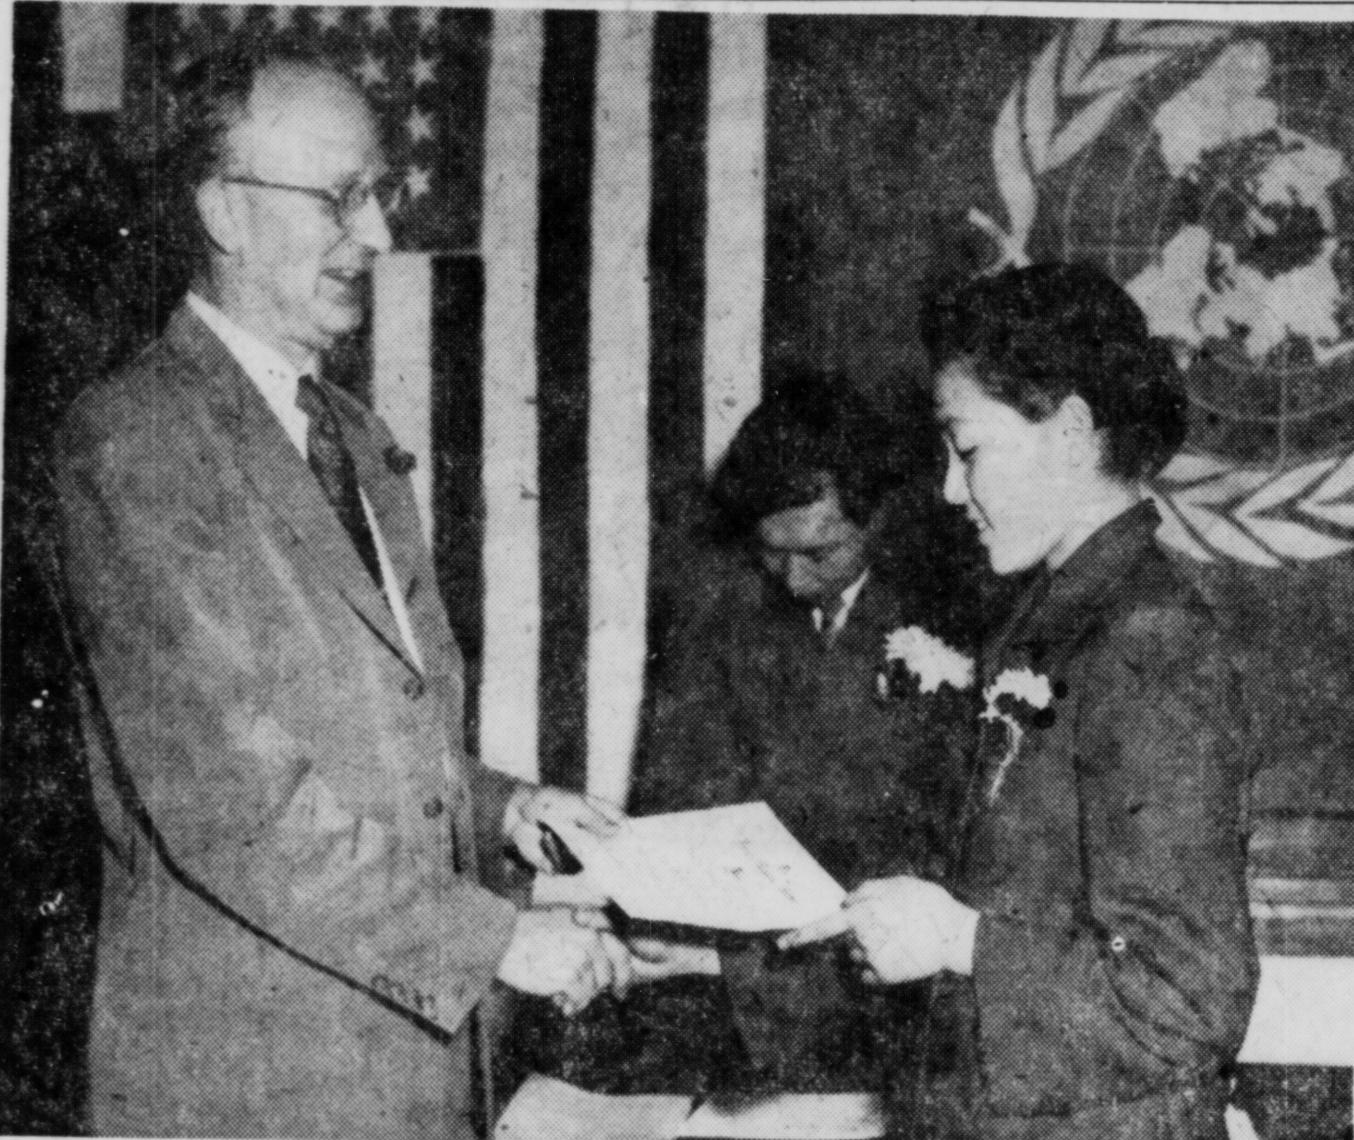

The meeting took place at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Irving Kalish. Besides the hosts, others present included Mrs. Finkel, Mrs. Kermit Schwarz, Mrs. Sidney Greenberg, and Mr. and Mrs. Abe Kramer. Officers for the year were chosen. Mrs. Schwarz, who has been the leading spirit of the group in its organizing and since, was formally named chairman; Mrs. Lucille Kalish was chosen secretary, and Mrs. Greenberg, treasurer.

The group extended official thanks to Mrs. Schwarz and her husband, Kermit, for their cooperation and generosity in sponsoring the recent, highly successful Chanukah party for the Sunday school children, their parents and guests.

Buying of additional books and equipment was discussed, and Mrs. Finkel was authorized to buy the new items needed.

Leaves From Boyle's Notebook

By HAL BOYLE

New York (AP)—Could Marilyn Monroe walk into the average American business office and land a job as a secretary?

No, siree, mister, she couldn't—not if you take the word of the nation's businessmen themselves (and I, for one, am not sure that I do).

A SURVEY of leading executives on what they look for in a secretary, made by Carl Ray, research vice president of the Underwood Corp., placed personal charm way down on the list of desirable attributes. As a matter of fact, it ranked seventh.

"Forty-six per cent of the bosses indicated they wanted initiative more than anything else in a secretary," Ray said.

Why don't they place a higher premium on glamour in hiring a lady typewriter jockey?

Ray conceded the executives were ruled partly by their fears—fear of what their wife would say, fear that a too-pretty secretary would distract the other office hired hands, but added:

"ON A MORE positive basis, however, it's worth noting that secretaries today have to be executive assistants rather than just a plain old-fashioned secretary. What bosses really want is somebody who can mind the store while they're gone."

The sampling showed opinion was divided on the question of whether single or married women make the best secretaries.

"Twenty-four per cent of the bosses stated a preference for single girls, 20 per cent preferred married secretaries, and the rest expressed no choice," Ray said.

ONE EXECUTIVE wrote, "the married woman is not concerned with whimsy and dating. She does a better job." Another philosophized thusly: "It's really not important. If a girl is single today, she'll get married eventually anyway."

After initiative, the employers rated secretarial virtues in this order: the ability to type quickly and accurately, the ability to file and find information speedily, a winning telephone manner, punctuality and personal neatness.

Many older secretaries have complained it is difficult for them to land a new job after 40, and almost impossible after 50. The poll showed considerable justification for their complaint.

NONE OF THE businessmen came out for bobby-soxers as secretaries. But 48 per cent said they preferred to hire a secretary "somewhere between 20 and 40 years old." Another 27 per cent stipulated she had to be between the ages of 30 and 40.

The magic age for a secreetary today therefore would seem to be 30.

"Right now I consider the ideal age to be between 25 and 35," wrote a New York sales executive. "But if I were 80 I might say the ideal age were 60, or—he added as an afterthought—"maybe 20!"

What are the pet peeves of executives against their "favorite Girl Friday?"

THE CHIEF SINS of secretaries, the poll showed, are these: Some take too many coffee breaks, place too many personal phone calls at the office, take part in office gossip, or simply indulge in too much plain old feminine yakety yak.

But the biggest trouble with secretaries was voiced by an unhappy Los Angeles businessman, who said:

"They quit."

None of the executives, of course, took a lie detector test or a truth serum. Therefore I rather doubt that if Marilyn Monroe showed up in any of their offices looking for a job she would be turned away empty-handed.

The tired businessman isn't that tired.

STATE OF THE OPPOSITION

Any presidential State of the Union message is bound to be a political document, particularly in an election year. It speaks of the condition of the country as the incumbent administration sees it. It sets forth what that same regime proposes to do to make things better.

With a campaign coming up, such a message almost inevitably assumes the look of a party platform. Frequently a president will ask Congress for items he is privately sure it will not approve. He may be content to get himself on the record with the voters.

All this the knowledgeable men in both parties fully understand. Normally their comments on a message follow routine partisan lines. But this time the leading Democrats were more than ordinarily vehement in their attacks upon President Eisenhower's proposals.

The explanation is not hard to find. The Democrats feel the President has in effect tried to make off with their own program. One spokesman made this abundantly clear when he declared that the President's message very closely paralleled the legislative proposals advanced a few months ago by Senator Lyndon Johnson of Texas, Democratic majority leader in the Senate.

In other words, what bothers Mr. Eisenhower's opponents is not the nature of his proposals but the prospect that he and his party, rather than the Democrats, may get political credit for them if they are adopted.

They control Congress, but they are in a fix. If they oppose the President's program, they would be repudiating their own plans. How can they support these proposals and still gain credit for themselves?

Undoubtedly, they can extend some plans beyond Mr. Eisenhower's, or otherwise try to alter them to put a special Democratic stamp upon them. In some cases, they may work it in reverse by trimming them. Senator George wants to do that with foreign aid.

But even if these changes are brought off, the Democrats can have no assurance that in the voters' minds the credit will not still go largely to President Eisenhower.

They understand this risk full well, and that explains the vehemence of their protests against the State of the Union message.

Their reactions are understandable. But the impartial observer need not accept the argument of some that the GOP has "stolen" the Democratic program.

The fact is that the differences between the conservative and middle range Democrats and the moderate and liberal Republicans are not great. Politicians have been under stress for some years to make them seem greater than they are. They reflect the natural dilemma of the major parties in a time when both must make their chief appeal to the vast majority of Americans who stand in the middle.

Mind your time, and keep appointments promptly. Often by your punctuality are you known.

Doing what is right is only a part of the picture. Also, you must be prepared to convince others that it is so.

ECONOMIC TRANSFUSIONS

We all realize how business enterprises have grown in size as the nation has grown. It is a serious question how much of this concentration we ought to try to prevent, and how much we could block if we wanted.

Possibly much of it is inevitable in the light of our national trend toward a mammoth population, toward ever higher costs of beginning and continuing in business. Whether or not that is so, we must view with some sadness the increasing difficulty new enterprises have in this country.

A new Commerce Department survey shows that the odds are about 5 to 1 against any new business venture lasting as much as 10 years. In the 1944-54 decade, 7.8

'These Days'

By GEORGE SOKOLSKY

HE MUST DECIDE

President Eisenhower's difficulty in deciding what his duty is and to whom it is, is not surprising. Had he been a party man like Harry Truman, he would have known that his duty was to his party. He would then have rationalized his situation to be that what is good for the Republican Party is good for the United States and is therefore for his duty.

But life has not been that simple for Eisenhower. First he tried to be bi-partisan which did not work because that does not go in the United States. Then he became a cardiac case which led to uncertainty as to whether he could run or not and that doubt has apparently not been resolved, as it never can with cardiacs who have to take their chances that Eisenhower happens to be the best. There is nothing else they can do.

It was during the cardiac period in Denver that the Regency was formed, consisting of Eisenhower's official and unofficial associates who undertook the management of the government, although constitutionally that function should have gone to the Vice President, Richard Nixon. The Regency did manage to keep the show on the road and actually performed splendidly for Eisenhower—so that when he came back from Denver, he had no complaints to make. His position had not been weakened by his illness. He was stronger than ever before among the Republicans.

But the Democrats had taken account of the situation and had turned down the entire bi-partisan concept. Stevenson, Harriman, Truman are pitching into the Eisenhower Administration with all that they have. Other Democrats are following suit. It had been Eisenhower policy to get along with the Democrats as well as with the Republicans. That is all over with now. He has to face a solid Democratic opposition, supported by the A.D.A. for whatever that is worth.

In New York State, the Democrats give the appearance of feuding, but that is only because the A.D.A., a Socialist group, is fighting the regular Democratic organization and is losing.

The chairman of every County Committee agreed to support Harriman. These are delegates; they have votes at the Convention. Few, if any, in the A.D.A. list favoring Stevenson, will be delegates to the Convention nor can they influence many candidates; therefore they do not count. It is easy in New York to get up a list of names for Stevenson, but not names of delegates.

The significance of the Stevenson effort is that in the early days of the Eisenhower Administration, it was the White House hope that the Democrats would let 1956 pass. Whoever thought that possible was without understanding of American politics and life. As a result, many unbelievable errors were made to placate the Democrats. Now, it is not only clear that the Democrats are going to fight Eisenhower but so far the leadership in the fight has been taken by Adlai Stevenson who represents a slightly modified A.D.A. position.

Also the Democrats are going to use every Congressional Committee available to show corruption in the Eisenhower Administration and I presume that some will be found that can be played up big, because among the millions of government employees there are always some who are corrupt.

At any rate, it is going to be a fight. Into this fitful air comes the personality of Governor Frank Lausche of Ohio who on a "Meet the Press" interview shocked the Washington correspondents by his blatant truthfulness. It had never happened before that any person in public life quite answered all questions as though the questioner had the right to ask them and the answerer had an obligation to answer. Lausche is a Democrat, once he is nominated for the Presidency, can probably be elected because Taft Republicans will vote for him. But Lausche likes Eisenhower and would only become menace to the Republican Party if Eisenhower did not run.

THE DOCTOR AND THE LAW

In an interesting editorial by the Dean of the Faculty of Law of McGill University, Montreal, we are given a glimpse as to what takes place when the doctor comes to grip with the law insofar as his practice is concerned. I thought it might be worth while to readers to pass this information along.

In the first place, we are told that there is ethical malpractice (improper practice) with which legal cases are not usually concerned. Secondly there is criminal malpractice which exposes the doctor to prosecution in the criminal courts; and thirdly there is civil malpractice which is the field of a great deal of litigation and with which this article will concern itself.

In the first place, there is a legal duty on the part of a doctor to use due and reasonable care in treating a patient. A breach of that duty amounts to negligence and if, as a direct result of that negligence, the patient suffers injury, he is entitled to recover damages.

As a general rule, it is the patient that must prove the negligence. He must prove first that there was an act or an omission of an act which amounted to negligence. Second, he must suffer injury. Third, he must prove that injury was a direct result of the negligence. Of course, some cases will speak for themselves and it is not necessary for the patient to prove the act of negligence. This situation sometimes arises when a foreign substance is left in a patient's body, such as a sponge or a swab, or even a surgical instrument. It would be impossible for the patient to prove this as he was under an anesthetic at the time.

As to the care which a doctor must use, he is certainly not a guarantor or insurer that his treatment will be successful. A bad result, therefore, is not necessarily evidence of negligence—something which many patients who are bringing suit against doctors fail to realize.

How does the doctor defend himself? "As a general rule, the defense is likely to be successful if it is shown that the doctor's conduct was in accordance or the same as that generally or approvedly practiced by other doctors in similar communities in similar cases." This evidence is usually made by independent medical witnesses. The court may, however, reject medical evidence if it sees fit, especially when the question at issue is not of a technical nature but is something the average layman is capable of deciding for himself. For example, if a surgeon leaves a sponge in a patient's throat while performing a tonsil operation, a layman does not need medical evidence to decide that, on the first view anyway, a case of negligence has been established.

We will consider other angles of the doctor and the law tomorrow but let us keep in mind that many law suits are the results of careless remarks made by one physician about another.

AS PEGLER SEES IT

By WESTBROOK PEGLER

Edwin A. Lahey, the chief of the Washington Bureau of the Miami Herald and the Chicago Daily News, recently was eulogized in terms which set me to muttering that one of us is wrong. I am as little like Eddie Lahey as it is possible for me to be and I know he feels that any resemblance to Pegler on his part is purely coincidental, unintentional and deplorable.

Eddie is one of those sunny characters. He once wrote me that he felt sorry for me because I seemed not to love my fellow-man. I am not sunny except for cause. Neither am I morose except for cause. I admit that I am very selective or choosy about my fellow-men, most of whom are not easy to love. Anyway, is it a virtue to love everybody? It seems insipid and undignified to me, although, as I say, this disposition is the secret of Eddie's success.

This paean goes on to say that Leahy is a man whom three presidents have called by his first name and that would be an undue familiarity to me unless I could call them by their first names. If a president calls me "Peg" and I have to call him "Mr. President" he is patronizing me and the man does not live who can patronize me. Roy Howard always has called me "Bud" which was the nickname of my gawking youth when I went to work on my first newspaper job with the UP in Chicago, but we all called him "Roy" and I still do, except that sometimes, for a rib, I refer to him as "Lum" because he has always had a strange taste for oriental stuff.

William Randolph Hearst called me "Mister" so I always called him "Mister" back. But Franklin D. Roosevelt, in the one interview I had with him, made me dam good and sore by calling me "West" which is a nickname that nobody who knows me ever uses. So I said, "Well, Frank, I tell you—" and by the time I got back to the office of Hugh Johnson who had arranged the interview, the news was there ahead of me and Hugh was roaring with glee. It was less majestic, no doubt, but that supercilious bum had a habit of treating all comers as he used to treat the coachman's son when he was a kid up at Hyde Park. He thought we were all serfs and whatever else I may be, that is one thing I certainly ain't.

If a president wants personal respect from me he has got to show me personal respect. Moreover, it is a good thing in journalism to keep presidents at arm's length. Otherwise they will get inside your guard and use you for their purposes. This is a great weakness of our business. Correspondents and publishers have wives and most wives are vain and want to be invited to dinners and receptions at the White House or to spend a night there so they can file some stationery. So they work on their spouses to ingratiate themselves and this social lobby has had a harmful effect.

Back in the New Deal when Eleanor was giving those hen-pecks for the gridiron wives the poor gridiron members were chivied almost crazy getting bids for the wives of publishers, editors and advertisers and these wretched victims of the press were expected to be nice all the rest of the year. Otherwise they got no invitations and their bosses back home figured that they were social failures.

Connie Wilson, God rest her honest, merry soul, laid it down that she was not the wife of her husband's job. She did not like Eleanor, she did not like non-alcoholic parties and when she was trapped into a recital by a female glee club from some reform school, she picked a seat at the corner of the rear exit

Drunk Tests Costly

Monmouth, Ill. (AP)—Those Intoximeter tests police give to inebriated motorists are costly. State Atty. Bufford W. Hottle Jr., convinced the board of supervisors the device was necessary in determining if drivers suspected of driving while intoxicated were really drunk. The board authorized the purchase of 36 of the balloon test devices at a cost of $4 each.

Taxes Play Big Role In Insurance Buying For Key Executives

New York, Jan. 18 (AP)—Business spent three billion dollars in the last 12 months to buy life insurance policies on owners and top executives and key employees. This brought to more than 20 billion dollars the total of such insurance naming as beneficiary a corporation or partner or business associate.

Annual purchases have tripled in the last six years. Good times may have furnished the money to pay the costs, but high taxes and stiff competition that puts a premium on top management ability have helped push the purchases to new heights.

THE AIDS of such insurance are usually to offset the business loss involved in the death of key men, or to ease the transfer of ownership at death, or to insure continuity of business during a turbulent financial period. The Life Insurance Agency Management Assn. of Hartford, Conn., reports that its quarterly buyers' surveys show that more than 150,000 business life insurance policies were bought in 1955. The association reports that about one tenth of all adult ordinary life insurance purchased in recent months was for business needs. Similar surveys it made in 1949 showed such purchases came to one billion dollars in that year on some 70,000 policies.

THE INCREASING role that taxes play in encouraging this form of insurance buying is pointed up by the Institute of Life Insurance. It cites the number of cases in recent years when firms have been forced out of business because of the failures of the owners to provide tax funds at death. Heirs sold the firms to get the cash needed for inheritance taxes.

There are other ways besides insurance to meet such a crisis. The sale today of Ford stock revives memories of how and why Henry and Edsel Ford set up the Ford Foundation. They bequeathed it to tax-free stock in their motor company. If all Ford stock had gone to members of the family, the inheritance tax would have been so huge that the family-owned company might have had to be sold to raise the cash.

BUT SMALLER businessmen increasingly have been taking out life insurance to make sure that their firm can continue to operate during the readjustment period after the death of principal owners or key employees.

This also helps make the jobs of other employees more secure, the institute says. Its sales pitch on this is that through insurance payments "many jobs have been continued through periods of dislocation that might otherwise have terminated them."

BEFORE THE tax motive became so strong, this form of insurance appealed notably to partnerships. Each partner takes out a life insurance policy naming the other as beneficiary. The aim is to furnish needed cash to continue the business and at the same time protect the interests of the family of the deceased partner.

Closely held corporations or businesses with a sole owner have somewhat similar problems.

Key man insurance is a product of postwar business competition and the increasing importance of technical knowledge and skill in production and management. It may take time to replace such an employee. So the firm insures his life—for much the same reason as it takes out insurance against loss by fire.

Tree Sitter Remembers

Niles, Mich. (AP)—His 25th anniversary as a tree sitter is being marked this year by Wilbert Jann. Back in 1930 when he was 13, he sat up in a tree for 25 days with a 14-year-old pal, Howard Davis. Their perch was a small wooden platform in the branches of a spreading maple tree. It was then a new record. Looking back, he can see why tree sitting is something of a lost art. He says: "I didn't feel any different when I came down than when I went up." Jim is married and the father of nine children. He is head maintenance man at St. Mary's Catholic Church. Davis has died. So has the tree.

Perjury Case Is Postponed Until February 2 Date

City Judge Raymond J. Mino today put over until Feb. 2 the case of James Chaffin, Jr., 27, of 32 Meadow street, who is charged with second degree perjury.

Authorities allege that Chaffin had made contradictory statements under oath. In one, it is charged, he indicated some knowledge of a reported theft of junk, and in another he claims to have been home at the time. He was arrested at police headquarters Monday by Sgt. Thomas Tomshaw. Bail was fixed at $50.

Judge Mino put the case over on request of Louis DiDonna, the defendant's attorney, who asked for time to prepare for trial.

KINGSTON is the distribution center for all of the Fuller Shirt Company products and in 1955 the company shipped a million and a quarter shirts from the Kingston plant to customers in every one of the 48 states.

The expanded program of production which will get underway immediately will increase that production substantially during the early months of 1956.

To take care of the sales throughout the country an experienced sales force is presently maintained in New York city, Los Angeles, Calif., and plans call for additional sales offices to be opened shortly in other cities. It is contemplated a new office in Chicago and one in the southwest added.

It was pointed out by both Mr. Fuller and Mr. Rowland that the machine operator trade was one of the skills which could provide employment in any state in the Union and was comparable to any trade or skill. Qualified operators find difficulty in securing employment anywhere once they have mastered the trade. Those coming into Kingston from elsewhere can find ready employment in the needle trade in Kingston where the demand for operators is growing.

News of Interest to Fraternal Organizations

The regular meeting of Kingston Lodge 970, Loyal Order of Moose will be held Thursday at 8 p.m. in the Moose Temple, 156 West Chestnut street.

A reception will be tendered the newly installed Worthy Matron Christine Wilson and Worthy Patron Arthur J. Keator, Friday, Jan. 20, at Masonic Temple at 8 p.m. There will be a special "degree" and entertainment. There will also be an election and installation of two officers. All members of the Eastern Star and Masonic lodges are welcome.

The man in charge of the production analysis at the plant, Mr. Bellini, is a local man who received his education in local schools, was a well known athlete, and is a graduate engineer of The Citadel from which he was graduated about a year and half ago.

Faith in the present and future of Kingston is making one of Kingston's oldest industries one of its largest, and will provide employment for a considerable number of additional employees during the coming months.

Gardiner

Gardiner, Jan. 18—Reformed Church News—There will be a regular service at the church next Sunday.

The flowers in the church last Sunday were in memory of Alfred Stokes, Sr., given by his wife, Mrs. Adelaide Stokes.

The church council will meet at the church hall Tuesday, Jan. 24, at 8 p.m. to make out the church calendar for the year.

The congregational meeting will be held at the church hall Friday evening, Jan. 27. A pot luck supper will be served at 7 p.m. The Ladies' Aid Society will be in charge of the supper.

Each family will bring a covered dish. Rolls, butter, dessert, and coffee will be supplied by the Ladies' Aid. After the supper a business meeting will be held at which yearly reports will be given by all organizations of the church and the new consistory elected.

WHEN THE PLANE broke through the overcast over the eastern tip of Long Island, Francis recognized where he was and headed straight for LaGuardia, bringing the plane in visually for a perfect landing.

The airport had picked up the plane on its radar screen. One other plane waiting to land at the field at the time was warned by radio to keep clear.

The sight of Long Island brought a cheer of relief from the passengers, reported one of them, Jerry Ferron of Roosevelt, N. Y. Up to that point, he said, he thought the plane was doomed.

He told of taking out a piece of paper and writing for his wife Barbara: "Bobby, I love you, Jerry."

Passenger Elmer Hunting, 37, of Madawaska, Maine, described the reaction in the cabin when the lights blazed out. "Everyone began praying silently," he said.

Like other passengers and the pilot, Hunting praised stewardess Barbara Crowley, 25, of Boston. "There was no panic," he said. "The stewardess did a great job."

And pilot Francis, noting that his passengers had kept calm and quiet throughout the long strain, remarked, "they were a very nice group of people."

Reds Reject Proposal

Tokyo, Thursday, Jan. 19 (AP)—Red China today rejected a U. S. proposal made at Geneva that both sides forego the use of force in the Formosa area. A Peiping broadcast quoted a Foreign Office spokesman as saying the proposal was made Jan. 12 and was the same as one turned down by Red China last November. At the same time, Peiping let loose a series of blasts at Secretary of State Dulles. The spokesman was quoted as saying Dulles "even renewed the clamor for an atomic war against China."

Court Order Rejected

Richmond, Va., Jan. 18 (AP)—The state Supreme Court of Appeals today rejected an order from the U. S. Supreme Court which vacated the Virginia court's decision in an interracial marriage case. The state court said it "adhere(s) to our decision" which upheld a Portsmouth, Va., Circuit Court ruling holding invalid a 1952 marriage between a Chinese seaman and a white woman.

When a player makes a takeout double after passing originally, he indicates that his hand is not quite good enough in high cards for an opening bid but is good enough in distribution to ask partner to respond. This information is often useful to partner, but it sometimes can be turned to good advantage by the opponents. In today's hand the takeout double by West was the clue to South's play of the hand.

West opened the ace of clubs, dropping declarer's singleton king. West promptly shifted to the deuce of spades in the hope of establishing a trick or two in that suit.

After some thought, South fished the nine of spades from dummy. The choice was a happy one, since East was forced to win with the king. This wasn't important from South's point of view, since even if East had been able to win with the ten or jack of spades, dummy's remaining spades would prevent East from returning the suit safely.

East now returned his singleton diamond, and South put up the ace immediately. West had promised good support for diamonds, so the actual situation was easy to read. If South had played low, West would have taken the king of diamonds and returned the suit to give his partner a ruff.

South still had to prevent the loss of a trump trick in order to make his contract. He led a heart to the king, noting the fall of the eight of hearts from the West hand. He then returned the ten of hearts from dummy and let it ride for a finesse. West had promised good distribution in the bidding, and this almost undoubtedly meant a singleton heart.

The trump finesses succeeded, and South was practically home. He ruffed a club to enter his own hand, drew two more rounds of trumps, and led towards dummy's queen of diamonds. Nothing could then defeat the difficult game contract.

Snow Is Blamed For Eight Deaths In New England

Boston, Jan. 18 (AP) — Eight deaths were blamed today on the heaviest snow storm of the season which yesterday veered off its expected ocean-bound course and dropped up to nearly 13 inches of snow on southern New England.

It was the 10th consecutive day New England has had precipitation of some kind, a weather bureau record.

GENERALLY SUNNY, cold and windy weather was forecast by the weather bureau for today.

Six of the deaths were from heart attacks after shoveling snow. The other two were traffic deaths.

The storm dropped 12.7 inches at the Blue Hills Observatory in Milton, Mass., just outside Boston; 10 inches at Providence, R. I.; 8 inches at Quonset Point, R. I., Falmouth, Mass., and South Weymouth, Mass.; 6 inches at Boston and Bedford, Mass.; 4 inches at Hartford, Conn., and 3 inches at Worcester.

FIFTEEN CHILDREN were marooned on a school bus at Coventry, R. I., when the bus bogged in heavy snow. The children were unharmed and seemed to enjoy the experience.

About 1,000 telephones were reported out of commission in Rhode Island, where the snow storm was described as the worst since 1948.

Television Station WPRO, Channel 12, Providence, was off the air for slightly more than three hours because of a storm-blamed broken power line at the transmitter.

Departure of the USS Worcester from the naval shipyard, Boston, for the West coast was held up until today by the storm and the resultant poor visibility.

Police Killer Is Victim of Chair

McAlester, Okla., Jan. 18 (AP) — Hubie Franklin Fairris Jr., born of a Texas desperado family, died in the Oklahoma electric chair early today for the slaying of an Oklahoma city policeman.

The 22-year-old Dallas hoodlum proclaimed to the last his innocence of the death of Detective Bennie F. Cravatt, shot during an attempted supermarket holdup July 16, 1954.

Fairris' execution ended a long legal battle for his life. Numerous appeals and two rewrites by Gov. Raymond Gary delayed the electrocution. He was convicted Oct. 21, 1954, and originally was scheduled to die October 18, 1955.

Four final pleas for clemency were turned down yesterday, eight hours before Fairris went to the chair.

Fairris, pronounced dead at 12:08 a. m., was baptised into the Catholic Church just two hours before the execution.

Patrolman Shot in Back

Detroit, Jan. 18 (AP) — A patrolman who had faced a drawn gun twice in the last three months was shot in the back and fatally wounded late last night during a tavern holdup. Before he died Sidney O'Connor emptied six slugs from his service revolver into the gunman. O'Connor's partner, Michael Babuik, also fired six times. All 12 bullets were found in the body of a man police said was identified through fingerprints as Charles F. Mattock, a parolee from Southern Michigan Prison.

Puzzled Over Bulgarin

London, Jan. 18 (AP) — Western diplomats puzzled today over what is keeping Soviet Premier Nokolai Bulgarin from the public scene. Word reached here he missed another key party meeting. Speculation increased after Moscow radio listed the dignitaries attending last night's meeting of a Moscow City Communist conference. All the top Kremlin brass were there—except Bulgarin. The 60-year-old premier's continued absence from all public functions since the Supreme Soviet meeting at the end of December has resulted in belief he might be ill or resting from his grueling Asian tour with party boss Nikita S. Khrushchev.

Stars whose shows are to be colorcast are Tennessee Ernie Ford, Pinky Lee, Tony Martin, Dinah Shore, Eddie Fisher, Jack Bailey and Jimmy Durante.

Think It Through

By EDWARD F. HUTTON
WELL! WELL! WELL!

Here's good news from Harry Truman, and one can believe it's true because it comes from Mr. True-Man. Always right — never wrong!

Like many, he uses glasses because of eye defects.

The press reports that while addressing a distinguished non-political group in Beverly Hills, California, Mister True-Man said: "Just recently we have been having fits over Communists. There aren't enough Communists in the United States to put in your eye."

Thunders of silence greeted his statement! It made liar out of J. Edgar Hoover. Mr. Hoover says that in proportion to population, there are more Communists and fellow travelers in the U.S. than there were in Russia when the Bolsheviks took over.

The New and Fair Dealers should know. They brought the Reds to Washington and gave them jobs.

The slogan, "Red Herring Harry," was pinned on Mr. Never Wrong Truman's back. He said that "Old Joe is a good fellow." Hiss was another good fellow to Mr. Never Wrong.

Yes, he said there aren't enough Communists in the U.S. to "put in your eye." Remember what the Good Lord said about those who have eyes, yet see not?

None so blind as those who will not see. Humble and well liked he became President. Mr. Never Wrong is now a vain old man.

Flowers Blooming In Snow Flurries

As Growers Meet

Rochester, N. Y., Jan. 18 (AP) — It was cold in Rochester, with intermittent snow flurries. But a few steps inside the community's elaborate War Memorial the scene turned abruptly to summer.

Flowers bloomed among a setting of many-sized evergreen trees. Many varieties of lilacs—a trademark of this "Flower City"—stood out in multi-colored invitation to the hundreds of visitors to the 101st Annual meeting of the Horticultural Society.

THE MEETING which opened yesterday marks the start of the second hundred years of horticultural progress. A theme pointed up sharply by the hundreds of pieces of specialized horticultural equipment sprawled about in the Memorial's principal exhibit hall.

Complicated apple graders, for instance, were a far cry from the days of sorting apples by hand. Many-sized tractors underlined the passing of the horse age in horticulture.

Across an aisle from the flower display in the entrance hall, row upon row of apples were lined up for inspection. They are the principal products of the state's fruit and flower growers gathered here.

In THE EXHIBIT hall, a map of New York state was built of the many varieties of apples it produces.

All were shiny bright red or yellow. They gave no evidence of being products of hard times for the fruit growers.

But Gov. Harriman, a guest of the society yesterday, said average apple prices were off 40 per cent from 1954. He said the apple market was depressed and he asked for federal aid in the shape of an apple buying program. U. S. Agriculture Secretary Ezra Taft Benson, another guest speaker, said federal law wouldn't permit such a program.

Dan Dalrymple of Lockport, secretary of the state society, looked around at the much-desired modern equipment and the shiny rows of apples and other fruits and backed up the governor's statement.

"Yes," he said, "we are just as bad off as we can get."

Test Pilot Killed

Los Alamitos, Calif., Jan. 18 (AP) — Douglas Aircraft Corp. Test Pilot Charles H. Kesler, 35, was killed yesterday when his F4D Skyray crashed while attempting an emergency landing at the naval air station here. The navy jet interceptor was on a production test flight when it developed trouble over the ocean. Kesler was a native of Pecos, Tex. His mother, Mrs. Edna Kesler lives in Alhambra, Calif.

Discrimination Charged in Auto Inspection Plan

Albany, N. Y., Jan. 18 (AP)— Sen. Fred J. Rath, Utica Republican, said today he had "grave doubts" about the legality of Gov. Harriman's program for compulsory safety inspections of automobiles.

Rath, the Legislature's chief opponent of mandatory automobile checkups, said the governor's proposal "obviously discriminated against the owners of older cars."

Harriman suggested changing the state law on automobile inspections to require limited, annual inspections of motor vehicles more than five years old, instead of detailed, semi-annual checkups of all vehicles.

The 2-year old inspection law was scheduled to go into effect last year but the 1955 Legislature, at Harriman's request, postponed the deadline to Dec. 1, 1956, in order to re-study the program.

Rath has introduced a bill to repeal the inspection law altogether.

The senator said figures published by the State Motor Vehicle Bureau showed that cars less than five years old were involved in 56 per cent of the accidents and resulted in bodily injury during the first nine months of 1955.

"It would seem," he said, "the burden of inspection should be placed upon the owners of the newer cars rather than the owners of the older cars. Because of this arbitrary and unjustifiable discrimination against the owners of older cars, I have grave doubts as to the constitutionality of this proposed legislation."

Rath said he intended to "press for passage" of his bill for repeal of the present inspection law.

Tire Company Fire Does $20,000 Damage

Buffalo, N. Y., Jan. 18 (AP)—Flames caused as estimated $20,000 damage last night to the McRonald-Fisher Tire Co., a two-story frame building in the northern main section of the city.

Deputy Fire Chief Edward Ostolski, who estimated damage, said the cause of the fire was not determined immediately.

Charles C. McRonald, company president, said the building contained about $80,000 in stock and $25,000 in machinery, mostly used for recapping tires.

The company president was unable to say immediately how much of the stock or machinery was lost in the fire.

Fire Chief Dies As Roof Caves

Niagara Falls, N. Y., Jan. 18 (AP)—A 34-year-old fire chief perished yesterday when part of the roof of a burning house collapsed and carried him into the flames below.

Chief John Neilsen of Volunteer Company No. 1 in the suburban town of Niagara was chopping a hole in the roof when the section caved in.

Ryland Bagby, a fireman working near Neilsen, succeeded in looping a rope around the victim's body and lifting it to the roof. But the chief, father of four children, was already dead.

Coroner F. Eugene Ingram said Neilsen was badly burned but that the immediate cause of death was asphyxiation.

The flames destroyed the two-story, frame dwelling. Five occupants escaped unharmed.

Assistant Joseph Eydt said the cause of the fire was not determined immediately. No damage estimate was available.

Sift flour, sugar, baking powder, $\frac{1}{2}$ teaspoon cinnamon and salt together. Add walnuts and cherries and mix well. Combine egg, 1 cup applesauce and salad oil and beat well. Add flour mixture and mix only until Turn into greased 9x5x3-inch pan and bake in moderate oven (350 degrees F.) 1 hour, or until done. Cool 10 minutes and remove from pan. Cool thoroughly.

Combine remaining applesauce, $\frac{1}{4}$ teaspoon cinnamon and nutmeg; mix well. Spread over loaf. Garnish with quartered cherries.

Cherry Prune Bread (Makes 1 9x5x3-inch loaf)

Three cups sifted all-purpose flour, 4 teaspoons baking powder, $\frac{1}{2}$ teaspoons salt, 2 tablespoons sugar, $\frac{1}{4}$ cup shortening,

2 tablespoons grated orange rind, 1 cup dried prunes, pitted and finely chopped, $\frac{1}{2}$ cup chopped maraschino cherries, drained (about 20 cherries), 2 eggs, beaten, 1 cup milk.

Sift flour, baking powder, salt and sugar together. Cut in shortening with pastry blender or 2 knives. Add orange rind, prunes and cherries and mix well. Combine eggs and milk and add to cherry mixture. Mix only until dry ingredients are moistened. Turn into greased 9x5x3-inch baking pan and bake in moderate oven (350 degrees F.) 1 hour, or until bread tests done.

TOMORROW'S DINNER:

Sautéed pork chops, mashed potatoes, sauerkraut, rye bread, butter or margarine, canned pears, cherry nut applesauce bread, coffee, tea, milk.

Two Democrats See Advantage In Foreign Aid

Washington, Jan. 18 (AP)—Sen. Humphrey (D-Minn.) said today he is prepared to vote for "an expression of support for long-term commitments" of American aid to cold war allies and neutral nations.

Humphrey, often a critic of Eisenhower administration foreign policy, thus indicated willingness to compromise on the issue of a long-range program for assistance for specific projects, an administration request which has stirred considerable opposition.

Sen. Mansfield (D-Mont.) said in a separate interview the question "is in for a lot of discussion in the Senate Foreign Relations Committee." Declining to commit himself on that, Mansfield said if this country abandons assistance to neutrals they will go to Russia "by default." Vice President Nixon said last night Russia is wooing the cold war neutrals by "offers of economic aid."

In a speech at Philadelphia, he said Russia's economic and political offensive is "in some ways more dangerous than a military offensive which might be launched against us or one of our allies."

"Our foreign aid program is not designed to buy the friendship of peoples in the countries to which our aid is given," Nixon said. "That is why both neutrals and allies should share in that program."

Senate Minority Leader Knowland of California has questioned the wisdom of financial aid to "the fence sitters."

Secretary of State Dulles at a news conference yesterday opposed the idea of limiting U. S. assistance to countries aligned definitely with the west in the cold war.

He expressed a belief, too, that Congress will approve the administration's request for authority to make perhaps up to a billion dollars worth of long-term commitments for specific projects abroad when there is general understanding of what is involved.

Under Secretary of State Herbert Hoover Jr. told the Foreign Relations Committee the administration wants such authority to offset "Soviet Russia's challenge to the underdeveloped areas."

"The Soviet line is largely false and fictitious," he said. "Nevertheless, it has sufficient elements of reality and sufficient glamour to be attractive."

"Drunk it all!" gasped the druggist. "Why, man, that was an india rubber solution to put on the soles of your boots."

The bashful bride whispered to her husband as they entered the hotel:

She—Jack, dear, let's try to make the other people think we've been married a long time.

SIGNS AGREEMENT — At Dearborn, Mich., Ford Motor Co. president Henry Ford II pens his name to the underwriting agreement between the Ford Foundation and the group of underwriters that will handle the sale of Ford stock to the public. (NEA Telephoto)

Stops at $32,000
New York, Jan. 18 (AP)—Mrs. Mabel Morris, a 75-year-old retired school teacher who has been receiving city financial aid, took her $32,000 winnings and quit "The $64,000 Question" CBS television quiz show last night. She said doctors had examined her pulse and told her the excitement of trying for the grand prize would be too great. Mrs. Morris, an English-born widow, had reached the $32,000 mark in four previous sessions of the show by answering complicated questions about Charles Dickens and his books—her chosen category.

Production Is Up
Washington, Jan. 18 (AP)—Production flowing from the nation's factories and mines jumped ahead 11 per cent last year to hit a new peak, according to preliminary figures made public yesterday by the Federal Reserve Board. The board's estimate placed 1955 industrial production a full 39 per cent above the 1947-49 "yardstick" period. And it said peak output was reached in November and December. Production of durable goods climbed 18 per cent during the year, compared with a 10 per cent increase for nondurables.

Wilson Backs Ridgway
Washington, Jan. 18 (AP)—Gen. Matthew B. Ridgway's contention that he did not join other members of the Joint Chiefs of Staff in approving plans to cut army strength has been verified by Secretary of Defense Wilson. "I think what he said was correct," Wilson told a news conference yesterday when asked for comment on Ridgway's assertion in a Saturday Evening Post article that he had "most emphatically not concurred" in such plans.

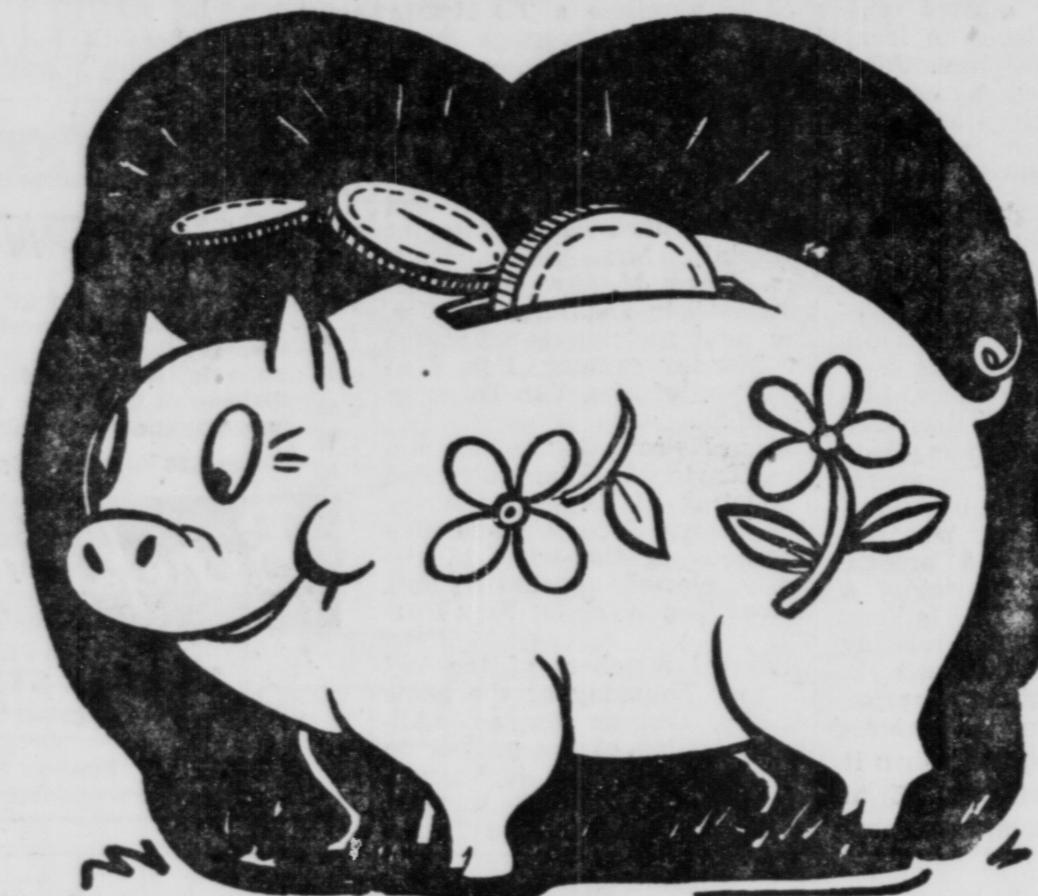

Denies Friend Helped
Washington, Jan. 18 (AP)—William J. Balmer, a Chicago Republican leader, swears he never asked his old friend, "Eddie" Mansure, to get government business for his insurance agency. Nor could Balmer recall yesterday that Edmund F. Mansure, head of the General Services Administration (GSA), had steered him toward insurance brokerage business connected with a 43-million-dollar expansion of a government nickel plant at Nicaro, Cuba.

British Criticize Dulles
London, Jan. 18 (AP)—Secretary of State Dulles' defense of his controversial foreign policy interview in Life magazine got a going over today in the British press. "Dulles has again put both his left feet forward," was the Liberal Manchester Guardian's assessment of the secretary's performance at a Washington news conference yesterday.

A Puzzle Out

Orleans, Neb. (AP)—When Mrs. Edna Heinze's grandchildren came for a visit, she gave them a jigsaw puzzle to play with. The visit over, Mrs. Heinze proceeded to clean up and found only half the puzzle. Since half a puzzle is no good, she threw it away. A few days later, while cleaning, she found the other half of the puzzle. She reasoned again, half a puzzle is no good, and threw it away.

MODENA NEWS

Modena, Jan. 17—Dr. Eugene Link, of the State Teachers College at New Paltz faculty spoke on religion in India to members of the Ramapo Ministerial Association at an open meeting Monday at the Modena Methodist Church. A chicken dinner was served in the Hasbrouck Memorial Hall by members of the WSCS.

A pot-luck supper preceded the regular business meeting of the official board of the Modena Methodist Church Monday night at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Herbert A. Winters.

The Wesleyan Service Guild of Modena Methodist Church held its January meeting at the home of Celia Tice Tuesday night. Those attending were Marian Jensen, Muriel Ward, Ethel Hyatt, Alison Swords, Marie Winters and Flo Hyatt of Clintondale. The business meeting was in charge of Celia Tice, followed by devotions and a program on the theme, "The Changeless Gospel in a Revolutionary Age," in charge of Muriel Ward.

Purposes: 1, to understand some of the forces making for revolution in the world; 2, to see how they effect the missionary program; 3, to consider how the missionary program may adjust to revolutionary situations. The next meeting will be held Tuesday, Feb. 14, at 8 p. m. at Flo Hyatt's home in Clintondale. Officers elected to serve during 1956 are as follows: Celia Tice, president; Jean Crane, vice-president; Muriel Ward, secretary, and Flo Hyatt, treasurer. Guild goals are stressed as Enrichment of Spiritual Life, Practice of World Brotherhood, Promotion of Christian Social Relations and Local Church Activities, and the Highest Use of Leisure. Committees include membership, missionary education, spiritual life, social relations and church activities, recreation. Meetings are held the second Tuesday in each month. The budget plans include pledges to Foreign Missions: Faculties Evangelica de Buenos Aires, Argentina, S. A.; Home Mission, MacDonnell Methodist Center, Houma, La., magazine fund, local activities cultivation fund, the Rev. and Mrs. Evelyn M. Adams (missionaries in Japan), Mr. and Mrs. Paul Arnold, (missionaries to India.)

The regular meeting of the Democrat Club of the Town of Plattekill was held Tuesday evening at the Hasbrouck Memorial Hall Wednesday evening. Approximately 50 persons were served. Mrs. A. Crowell of Wallkill spoke on the Blood Bank project.

The postponed meeting of the Public Health Nursing Committee of the Town of Plattekill proved a highly interesting evening for its members. Mrs. Lilian Courter, who has tirelessly and competently served as president of the unit for 15 years, was honored by her co-workers in recognition of her services, and presented with a brooch.

She was also the subject of a skit, paraphrasing "This Is Your Life" TV program, relating many interesting incidents in her life, and a distinct surprise, according to plan. A business meeting was conducted, when it was voted to contribute $5 to the Polio Fund campaign, now and Gun Club, members of their families, property owners who had granted privileges to local sportsmen, and the Rev. John E. Swords enjoyed a venison supper, served at the Hasbrouck Memorial Hall Wednesday evening. Approximately 50 persons were served. Mrs. A. Crowell of Wallkill spoke on the Blood Bank project.

The next meeting is scheduled for Monday evening, Feb. 6 at the home of Mrs. Van Dusen in Plattekill.

Mrs. Nelson G. Hedges and Mrs. Burton R. Ward attended a meeting of the New Hurley Missionary Society, Thursday afternoon at the home of the newly elected president, Mrs. Wilbur Van Wyck, at New Hurley.

Several members of the WS CS met Thursday at the home of Mrs. Courter for an additional session of the project on preparing material for woven rugs. The next regular meeting of the unit will be held Thursday, Feb. 2, at Mrs. Courter's home.

Local members of the Service and Hospitality Committee of the Plattekill Grange will assist in holding a card and game party at the Grange Hall Monday, Jan. 23, at 8 p.m.

Leg Protection

Arcadia, Fla. (AP)—Men wearing something similar to shiny stove pipes on their legs while tramping the fields around here are no longer an unusual sight. They are using Alvie Twiss' aluminum leggings, designed to protect hunters and outdoorsmen by rattlers while wearing the metal protectors.

Studios Scramble To Cash in Now On Television Gold

Hollywood, Jan. 18 (AP)—Now the tail is wagging the dog.

Television used to be a dirty word among the movie studios. Film bosses spoke of the tiny screen only in terms of disdain. Look at them now! The studios are scrambling to cash in on the TV gold. Most of them are making films for TV, several are selling their features and shorts to the new medium, and all are using it to exploit their new pictures.

THE MOST TV-conscious of the lots is RKO, which has already sold its old pictures to TV under the new ownership of the O'Neils of General Tire. Heading the studio is Daniel O'Shea, former Selznick, executive most recently with CBS. His production chief is Bill Dozier, another film veteran who served with CBS.

Dozier is outspoken in his regard for TV as an aid for films. "I believe that television is the greatest developer of talent this country has ever known," said Dozier, who was in charge of CBS dramatic shows in the east and then a Hollywood production boss. "Even more than vaudeville, which developed mostly entertainers, TV has provided training ground for actors, writers, directors, producers in comedy, drama and all fields.

"LOOK AT the names TV has brought forth already. A few years ago, Audrey Hepburn did a show for me at $600, including a week's rehearsal. Now you'd probably have to give her $250,000 a picture, plus a cut of the profits.

Eve Marie Saint did a show for me at $400—and this was after she did 'On the Waterfront.' Now I see MGM offered her $100,000 to do a picture. Others who did shows for $500 were Grace Kelly, Paul Newman, Rod Steiger, Ernest Borgnine.

"And look at the material TV has produced. MGM alone has bought 'The Rack,' 'The Catered Affair,' 'The Last Notch' and 'Fearful Decision.'

"THE MOST outstanding example is 'Marty.' I hope it wins the Academy Award this year; it deserves to. Perhaps that will convince the producers of the value of TV."

But it's not only TV talent and material from which movies can profit, added Omaha-born Dozier.

"Most film sets are too big," he remarked. "You catch only a glimpse of them in the long-shot, then the camera comes in for close-ups. You spend a lot of useless money in building those sets, plus the expense of lighting them and filling them with enough extras so they won't seem empty."

"OF NECESSITY, TV learned to do without big sets. It was impossible to have them in the early days. So if you had a scene in a restaurant, you showed a booth, not the whole place."

"And the public didn't care. They're interested in the characters and what is said, not in how big the set was."

"Also, I think we can learn a lot from TV in speed of shooting. Too much time is wasted in the making of a movie."

Dozier said that many film producers still have an ostrich attitude about TV. "You mention Art Carney and they ask who he is," Dozier remarked. "That's ridiculous. A fellow who is seen by 40 million people every Saturday night cannot be ignored."

Along this line, he said that he had cast two TV personalities in the film to kick off the new RKO regime—"The First Traveling Saleslady" with Ginger Rogers. With her will be Jim Arness, star of CBS' "Gunsmoke," and Barry Nelson, of "My Favorite Husband."

Priest's Trade Union
New Delhi (AP)—In the Jain temples in Ahmedabad priests numbering 100, have formed a union to fight for higher wages and improved working conditions. Contending they are employees of an industry, the priests have asked the Bombay state government to bring them under the minimum wages act and allow them to take their case before a state industrial tribunal. The governing boards of the temples have rejected the priests' demands.

Dual Whistle
South Charleston, W. Va. (AP)—It had to happen. A fire was reported exactly at 10 p. m., just when the fire whistle is supposed to sound the curfew. Firemen explained that they just blew it louder and longer—then quickly put out a fire in the living room of the Ed Webster home.

Aiken Predicts Some Democrat Farm Support

Washington, Jan. 18 (AP)—Sen. Aiken (R-Vt.) predicted today

Republicans "will get some Democratic support" for the administration's new farm proposals.

And Sen. Anderson (D-N.M.), former secretary of agriculture in the Truman administration, said in a separate interview "I think we might take their bill in drafting something that will get support on a bipartisan basis."

He REFERRED to a bulky measure sent to Congress yesterday by Secretary of Agriculture Benson to put into operation a new "soil bank" and other features of the administration's program.

The Senate Agriculture Committee, trying to draft new legislation to lift farm prices and incomes after a five-year slump, meanwhile called in representatives of four major farm organizations for their views.

They are the American Farm Bureau Federation, the National Grange, the National Farmers Union and the National Milk Producers Assn.

President James G. Patton said members of the National Farmers Union "are opposed to the soil bank as recommended by President Eisenhower and as explained by Secretary of Agriculture Benson."

In a statement released in advance of the hearing Patton said "farm income is at depression levels" because of "official federal policy."

"And the public didn't care. They're interested in the characters and what is said, not in how big the set was."

"Also, I think we can learn a lot from TV in speed of shooting. Too much time is wasted in the making of a movie."

HENRY LEVY

Henry Levy, Popular Baritone Singer, Now With the U. S. Army

The promising young baritone, Henry Levy, son of Mr. and Mrs. Alex Levy and brother of Patrolman Meyer Levy of the Kingston Police Department, has traded in his music sheets for an Army requisition form while studying in the Quartermaster School at Fort Lee, Va. Pvt. Levy is with B Company of the 5th Battalion.

The 23-year-old singer, previously heard on the stage of New York's famed Carnegie Hall, led a varied musical life ranging from summer resort fare to the concert hall, and may join Robert Shaw's Chorale on separation from service.

Pvt. Levy stepped onto the Carnegie Hall concert stage when he premiered "Song of David," by Norman Dello Joio, an outstanding contemporary composer and one of the commentators of the Metropolitan Opera of the Air. Pvt. Levy also premiered another of Dello Joio's new works "Saint Joan of Arc." His distinguished associations have also included three appearances as soloist with Robert Shaw's well known choral group.

At Kingston High School, he sang as soloist with the high school chorus, which won honors in both 1949 and 1950 as the top high school chorus in New York state. As first violinist he was concert master of the school orchestra but still found time to win six letters in basketball, football and baseball.

When he graduated from high school, Pvt. Levy found himself in an unusual position. He had to select between an athletic or music scholarship. Choosing the latter, he entered Potsdam State University, Potsdam, after a year of work and study in New York city.

As a voice major at the excellent little music college, Pvt. Levy embarked on a classical singing career that now finds him ranking with the most promising young singers in America. During his four-year college career, he sang as soloist in several outstanding productions. He played the role of one of the three kings in the presentation of "Amahl and the Night Visitors," sang the baritone solo in an annual Christmas production of a new work by Jan Meyerowitz, entitled "Music for Christmas," and in the following year's performance of Bach's Christmas Oratorio.

Pvt. Levy was active in many facets of the Potsdam music program, serving as president of the music department, and director of both the male quartet and the male choral group.

He played on the college baseball team, sang semi-classical songs at Grossinger's New York resort, and was a student teacher at Potsdam High School.

Two honors are important to Pvt. Levy. In 1953 he was adjudged first baritone in the Utica Music Festival, competition that included several outstanding New York music schools.

After graduation he was awarded a Berkshire scholarship, allowing him to study under Boris Godolfsky at the famous Berkshire Music Festival in Massachusetts, where many of the talented young musicians mingle with great performers.

Pvt. Levy is putting his musical talent to good use while studying at the Quartermaster School. He is singing with the Fort Lee chorus, the Leemenaires, and also hopes to join Special Services after his graduation from the eight-week Supply Records course next month.

Junior League Holds Birthday Dinner

The Junior League of Kingston celebrated its 34th anniversary at a birthday dinner Saturday, Jan. 14, at the Governor Clinton Hotel. Approximately 175 persons attended the function with representatives from the group who originally founded the Kingston League 34 years ago.

The Junior League of Kingston, founded April 29, 1922, was instituted by a group of ten women who felt the need for volunteer service in the community and their initial efforts included maintaining and supporting such welfare projects as the well-baby clinic, little mothers' club, pre-natal clinic, dental and medical clinic, hospital book service and children's theatre. Since that time, the Kingston League, ever mindful of the many areas of need for volunteer service, has branched out and now contributes time and money to maintaining seven welfare and cultural projects. Its league members serve as volunteers or on the board of 20 community agencies.

League members and their guests attending the birthday celebration enjoyed a Smorgasbord dinner and were entertained by accordion selections played by James Melbert. Competitive games conducted by John Pope were provided for the enjoyment of the group after dinner.

Committee members responsible for the success of the dinner included: Mrs. Frank Matthews and Mrs. George Bushnell, co-chairmen; Mrs. Eugene Berardi and Mrs. James Quinn, decorators, assisted by Mrs. Robert Cline and Mrs. Richard Jones; Mrs. James Norton, tickets; Mrs. George Vogel, hotel arrangements; Mrs. Robert MacKinnon and Mrs. Arthur Davis, entertainment; Miss Ann O'Reilly and Miss Mary O'Reilly, history; Mrs. George Chilson, sustaining advisor.

Artists' Association Holds First Meeting

The Ulster County Artists' Association had its first regular meeting of the year Wednesday, Jan. 11. New officers elected to serve for 1956 are Mrs. Stella Atkinson, president; Mrs. Dorothy Kraus, vice president; Mrs. Anne Griffith, secretary; Mrs. Cecilia Brooks, treasurer, and Julius Kraus, art director.

There are 34 active members in the group and during the meeting they discussed plans for several projects some to include a benefit exhibit, a trip to the New York Metropolitan Art Museum, films and field trips.

Any one interested in painting or sketching is invited to contact the Ulster County Artists' Association, P. O. Box 412, uptown branch.

Local School Photos To Be Included in Book

A request for pictures of activities in the Kingston schools related to the teaching of language arts has been received by Mrs. Frieda L. Dingee, principal of School No. 7.

Mrs. Dingee reported that the pictures are to be included in a revision of two professional books written by Dr. Mildred Dawson and published by the World Book Co. Dr. Dawson is presently a lecturer in education at Sacramento State College, Calif.

Warren Russell of the audio-visual department and Mrs. Dingee are forwarding the pictures to Dr. Dawson.

The Nature Parent
The Stolen Banana and a Boy's 'Moral Indigestion'
By MRS. MURIEL LAWRENCE

He was a nicely dressed child about five. As I approached the market's fruit stand, he was standing with his back to me. So I noted him only vaguely. Then as I reached for a grapefruit, he made a sudden flicker of movement. After a movement, I realized that I'd seen the swift, expert transfer of a banana to his pocket.

What followed had a nightmare quality. For the store manager had seen the theft, too. But the little boy's mother wouldn't let him tell her about it. She was too intent on fighting his disapproval of the child's behavior to have any interest in the behavior.

Gradually, the manager lost his interest in it. She paid for the banana. He apologized. The fruit of the child's theft was returned to him—and he left the store, eating it, the fact of his dishonesty as obliterated as though it had never existed.

It was excellent training for crime.

A criminal expects profitable consequences from stealing. So did the little boy in my market: His experience had taught him it was profitable to gamble on the chance his mother would detour stealing's unpleasant consequences from him.

An adult criminal breaks the law out of the same fatuous expediency. The only difference between him and the little boy is that he has outgrown his infantile hope in Mother—and transferred it to Luck, that indulgent lady of unpredictable whims who, like Mother, may suddenly decide to be nice to him and suspend the nasty old law of cause and effect in his behalf.

The cruelty of removing all natural roughage from a child's experience was once unforgettable illuminated for me by psychoanalyst Erich Fromm. He said, "Moral digestion is as vital to health as the kind the stomach performs."

The child in my market was badly nourished one. He bit off a mouthful of experience that could have fed him, containing as it did his aggressive action and other people's resentment of it. But his most mistaken parent strained it of its harsher nutrients.

She refined his mouthful of experience for him as food is pre-digested for infants. So his moral digestion could not break it down into the elements he must have to grow strong in self-protection, awareness of others, responsibility.

His tragedy is that he imagines himself to be loved and well-fed.

Deaf Persons May Be Used for Jet Crews

Washington, Jan. 19 (AP)—The navy is exploring the possibility of using totally deaf persons as ground crews for jet planes whose engines may develop too much noise for human endurance.

One objective of research now in progress at the naval air station at Pensacola, Fla., navy officials said today in an interview, is to find out whether intense noise would cause undue physical or psychological damage to persons who can't actually hear it.

They said some preliminary evidence indicates that even among the totally deaf, close exposure to such intense noise might impair a man's balance by affecting certain mechanism in the ear.

Lions Hear About

a country only 100 years old. She called attention to the recent development of lumber and paper pulp industries and the popularity of New Zealand canned crayfish, particularly in the United States. Deer are so numerous they are considered pests. Some of the best deep-sea and fresh fishing in the world is to be found in her country. Miss Jones said that 98 per cent of New Zealand homes are supplied with electricity, the highest percentage of any country in the world.

"I HAVE FOUND the Americans wonderful people," she said in conclusion. "I will come back whenever I get the chance. I just love American people."

Miss Rylance, who stayed with a family in Trondheim, Norway, was one of 23 boys and girls who studied in that country last summer. She said Norway had some of the most impressively beautiful scenery in the world, explaining that some parts of that country resembled the Hudson valley in many respects.

ALTHOUGH there was light "all night long" she had no trouble sleeping. Homes and buildings were largely of wooden construction. She observed very little use of brick. Most Norwegians study English from the sixth grade on and can speak two or more languages. Most of the automobiles are of European make, she said. They like American cars but find them difficult to obtain.

She found the Norwegians did a lot of swimming and hiking and had what was described as the most northerly golf course in the world. The men can "play golf at midnight," she said. She observed that tillable land was not extensive, although small farms dotted the countryside—sheep, hay, cows, goats—and she saw many homes with thatched roofs.

SHE SAID the Norwegians thought highly of Americans despite unfavorable impressions from some American newspapers, magazines and movies. Miss Rylance said she felt relations between Norway and the United States were very good and that the American Field Service program helped greatly in the promotion of international understanding.

Miss Silvestri described her stay with a family in Kramfors, Sweden, particularly delighting the Lions Club with her descriptions of Swedish foods.

THE EQUIVALENT of the American hamburger stand, she said, is the Swedish sour fish stand—but she could never get used to this particular delicacy. Sour milk is also popular—and cornflakes. Fish is served with head, eyes and tail.

Miss Silvestri said the people of beautiful Sweden all ride bicycles, even when going to dances and parties. This was one of the strange aspects of Swedish life that most impressed her. The young people of Sweden were under the impression, she said, that all Americans owned big homes and big cars. She experienced some resentment on occasion over this general impression among the Swedish people. She spent three days in Paris on her return trip to the United States.

The young ladies were introduced by Malcolm Sergeant, chairman of the program committee.

IT WAS ANNOUNCED that a party for some 35 Ulster county blind people would be held on Jan. 24 and that plans for the annual Lions Exposition at the state armory March 20-24 were developing satisfactorily. Booth space will be at a premium. The exposition committee will meet at the home of Warren Smith, chairman, Thursday night.

Andy Murphy, chairman of the Gene Autry show to be held at the municipal auditorium Feb. 8, said if tickets continue to go as they have it wouldn't even be necessary to open the box office at the auditorium.

Three Promotions Are Announced by A.T.&T. Company

Three promotions in the Long Lines Department of the American Telephone and Telegraph Co. were announced today.

They were:

John L. Vines was appointed transmission supervisor, William R. Whitney was appointed equipment maintenance supervisor and Richard J. Erhardt was promoted from the Kingsport office to a position of engineer in the district office of the Long Lines Department at Albany.

Mr. Vines, who resides on Miller's Lane Extension, came to Kingsport in 1952 from the Glens Falls office where he had worked since 1942. He was educated in the Fort Edward schools and attended Skidmore College after release from the U. S. Air Force. He has served on various assignments during his career with the American Telephone and Telegraph Co., attending training schools in Hartford, White Plains, Albany and Buffalo. At present Mr. Vines is president of the Kiwanis Club of Ulster and a member of the Board of Education of the Chambers School, town of Ulster.

Mr. Whitney, 38 West O'Reilly street, was educated in Kingston. Mr. Whitney has worked for the American Telephone and Telegraph Co. since 1942. On his return from military service with the Army Signal Corps in 1944, he was assigned to Fonda, returning to Kingston in 1946. Since then he has worked on assignments at Elizabethtown, Boston, Glens Falls and Albany, and served as an instructor in Albany.

Mr. Erhardt, 56 Elizabeth street, came to Kingston in 1953 from New York where he had worked for six years. Educated in the New York school system and Rutgers University, he has also received company training at New York and has fulfilled assignments at Elizabethtown, New York and Boston, Mass.

MR. WHITNEY, 38 West O'Reilly street, was educated in Kingston. Mr. Whitney has worked for the American Telephone and Telegraph Co. since 1942. On his return from military service with the Army Signal Corps in 1944, he was assigned to Fonda, returning to Kingston in 1946. Couple Wed 50 Years

Mr. and Mrs. Albert E. Bushnell of 18 Stickley avenue will celebrate their Golden Wedding anniversary, Saturday, at Judies Restaurant with their children, Mrs. Jacob H. Tremper of Kingsport and Mrs. W. E. Trainer of Huntington, L. I., and their families.

Mr. Bushnell, as a youth, attended School No. 8 and the Kingston Academy. His wife is the former Olive E. Fisher, daughter of the late Charles and Louise Fisher.

Eighteen years ago, Mr. Bushnell retired from his position as an American Railway Express agent. He has since occupied his time with favorite hobbies.

Mr. Bushnell is an avid maker of hooked rugs and tries to spend as much time making them as possible.

Mr. and Mrs. Bushnell also delight in having their three grandchildren about the house. They are Sandra Tremper and Frances and Linda Trainer.

Cost Accountants Hear Address on 'Organization'

A discussion of the role of the accountant in organization keyed the address of Michael A. C. Hume, of the management controls department of Peat, Marwick, Mitchell and Company, before the monthly dinner meeting of the Mid-Hudson Chapter of the National Association of Cost Accountants at the Nelson House, Poughkeepsie, Monday evening.

Tracing the historical origin of organization, Mr. Hume defined it as the art of getting people to work together for a common purpose. He pointed out the importance of striving for the proper structural organization since there is great strength in good organization.

ASSERTING that organization is not the responsibility of the accountant, there is a direct relationship, for accounting figures are the tools of control. Therefore, he said, the accountant must be in a position to give constructive information to his chief.

Walter J. Finger is affiliated with the J & A Roofing & Siding Company, 394 Hasbrouck avenue, as manager of the insulation department. Mr. Finger originally was trained by the Johns-Manville Company when he joined them in 1934. In 1941 he was transferred to the Poughkeepsie office as superintendent of the insulation department, which worked throughout the Hudson Valley area. He has supervised some of the largest through the valley in recent years.

Mr. Finger has supervised the installation of the most modern equipment and tools in the fleet of J & A insulation trucks.

He has resided in this area since 1941.

The new Liberty Trading Stamp store opened Tuesday at 71 Albany avenue. Liberty Trading Stamps are a new saving stamp plan being introduced to Kingston and Saugerties this week. The store is now open for inspection and features a complete selection of premiums available. Nothing will be sold in this store as every item is acquired solely by the redemption of stamps.

The store is modern in design and has all the latest display equipment. This store is one of the first of a number of such stores to be opened in eastern New York State in the near future.

Pratt Boice, president of Ulster County Savings Institution, was re-elected a director of Institutional Securities Corporation at the annual meeting today. The corporation, whose assets totaled $69,581,856.58 at the year end, is wholly owned by the 129 savings banks of New York State.

Net income for 1955 was reported at $260,528.16, which represented an increase over net income for 1954 when such figure was at $235,201.82. The dividend paid to stockholders for 1955 was in the amount of $150,000. This represented a dividend rate of 3 per cent, and increase of one half of one per cent over the dividend paid for the year 1954.

The Grand Union Company announced today that increased sales in the company's markets in this area have made it necessary to install an IBM electronic billing system in the food chain's Waterford, New York warehouse. Additional people have been employed to operate the new system.

The installation includes electronic calculators, key punch machines and a reproduction summary punch machine. The equipment will speed up the selection of orders which will ultimately mean faster delivery of merchandise to the stores.

the national conference to take place in June at Chicago, Ill.

Plans will be formulated for a special informative meeting for all new chapter members of the current season, at which time they will meet the officers and directors of the Mid-Hudson chapter and the purposes, services and activities of the chapter will be reviewed.

Seven Burned to Death

Marmora, Ont., Jan. 18 (AP)—The wife and six children of a Marmora town councilman were burned to death early today when fire swept their home near this southeast Ontario town. Police said Councilman Gordon Jones was found lying near the house, badly burned and suffering from exposure. He was taken to a hospital at Peterborough, 35 miles east of here, where he underwent surgery for three hours.

Lang Sentenced

New York, Jan. 18 (Special)—John K. Lang, of 15 Browning Terrace, Kingston, was placed on probation for three years, for embezzling mail, by Judge Irving R. Kaufman, in Federal Court here Monday. Lang, a postman, had pleaded guilty last month to an indictment charging him with having taken letters addressed to the Kingston Hospital, 396 Broadway, last November 9 and 10. The imposition of a prison sentence was suspended.

Monaghan Hails New York Lead In Trot Word

New York, Jan. 18 (AP)—George P. Monaghan, New York State Harness Racing Commissioner, said today his annual report clearly showed "the unchallenged leadership of New York state harness racing" and he called for new and better facilities for the public and horsemen.

In showing the great growth of the sport since 1940, Monaghan reported record attendance, revenue to the state, wagering, and purse distribution for the 1955 season.

NEW YORK'S state treasury benefitted to the tune of record $25,640,225 from trotting last year, as 5,055,841 customers wagered $282,835,009. The 1954 attendance was 5,026,170, with $269,510,458 wagered. State revenue in 1954 was $24,247,708.

Monaghan said New York tracks paid out $8,081,952 in 1955, or 53 per cent of the national total as compared with 11 other states where pari-mutuel harness racing is conducted.

He said the total pari-mutuel handle throughout the United States was $473,838,477, and that the New York wagering represented 60 per cent of that.

Maroons Lead After 1st Period

By CHUCK NORD
(Freeman Sports Staff)

Kingston High School stumbled and fumbled its way to DUSO League victory No. 4 last night, turning back visiting Middletown High School 53-44.

The KHS basketball squad apparently suffered a relapse after two excellent performances in previous games. The players lacked the drive exhibited against Poughkeepsie and Newburgh.

The visitors also were unimpressive. The whole performance left approximately 900 fans in the Kate Walton field house slightly bored. Good basketball was at a minimum. Excitement was nearly as scarce.

HOWEVER, the triumph, lackluster as it was, kept Coach Jack Gilligan's Maroons in contention for the DUSO pennant. The locals are still in a third-place tie with Newburgh.

Superior height was the main reason that the local team emerged victorious. The KHS club controlled both backboards, pulling down 73 rebounds as compared to Middletown's 44.

Kingston's field goal shooting was good. The Maroons rimmed 21 of 44 attempts, having quarterly percentages of 33, 54, 46, and 50. Middletown wasn't that accurate.

Both teams were sub-par at the free throw line. Kingston made only 11 of 23 tries and Middletown converted but 14 of 27.

THE MAROONS lost the ball repeatedly on traveling and running violations. Middletown intercepted a number of the locals' passes. The Middies hustled more.

Still, the Kingstons led during most of the game. Middletown was in front for only one brief stretch late in the first period.

A bevy of foul shots put the Middies in front 12-10 at the end of the opening quarter.

Kingston forged ahead immediately after the second period began. Forward Tom Flemming sank two foul tries and then canned a jump shot, putting KHS in front 14-12.

MIDDLETOWN kept pace until late in the period, when Bob Smith of Kingston bombed three straight baskets to send his mates ahead by 24-17. It was Kingston 26, Middletown 18 at intermission.

That second period was the big difference, Kingston getting 16 points and the Middies only a dozen. The third and fourth periods were played on an even-and-dull-keel.

Middletown made one last bid in the final session. Using a pressing zone defense and capitalizing on Kingston's ball-handling errors, the Middies came up with a number of deuces on fast breaks.

Kingston's lead deteriorated to four points. However, the visitors got only two markers in the final five minutes. Kingston played "possession" in the closing moments.

SMITH led the scoring, hitting 17. Flemming had 14, Richie Strong 12, Tony Grimaldi eight and Melvin Williams two. Williams got his bucket with a set shot just as the final buzzer sounded.

Strong and Grimaldi controlled the backboards, big Richie grabbing 25 rebounds and Grimaldi 19. Strong bottled up the middle on defense, knocking down a number of Middletown shots.

Charley Springstead paced the losers with 13 points. Sherk Myers tallied 10.

Rolling the highest triple of his career—690—Eddie Dasher came pretty near being shut out in the newsprint.

Which brings us up to perennial problem of having bowling secretaries discharge their duties in conformity with this newspaper's policies.

It is no secret that The Freeman has maintained a 9 a.m. deadline for all sports reports—the day after the event. Bowling secretaries are the most consistent violators of this rule.

The Sportsman Major League scorebooks bearing Dasher's huge triple arrived 24 hours late. Dasher has been a softball pitching standout for many years but his soaring into bowling's scoring stratosphere was a new sensation for the young man. Why penalize him for the negligence of his league secretary. So the item was carried several days late.

We have for years implored league secretaries to please get these scores in by 9 a.m. in order to insure publication and proper coverage and publicity for their leagues. Yet the entreaties have been consistently ignored.

Starting tonight, the Freeman will not publish bowling scores unless they reach the sports desk by 9 o'clock the day following the matches. All league reports must also show the FULL NAME of all bowlers. We have been made to look ridiculous trying to figure out if J. Brady meant John or Jim or if D. Whalen signified Dick or Don et cetera. We have tried to give bowling as much space as possible consistent with the demands of other local sports. We have made an effort to cooperate with the bowlers. Our best advice is to get those scores into the central post office anytime during the night. They will reach us by 9 o'clock the next day.

"Bo" Gill hints that C. Everett Stevens will retire as athletic director at Newburgh Academy, with Stan Hemingway moving up as his successor. That probably means a new football coach and "Bo" speculates the job will be offered to a present member of the staff. This squelches the rumor that John Marone, the highly successful Walden High mentor, would replace Hemingway. Best shooting percentages in the NBA belong to the Philly Warrior hotshots—Neil Johnston (.453) and Paul Arizin (.444). . . Top rebounder is Maurice Stokes the Rochester freshman sensation, with 545 recoveries. . . Old Timers Baseball Association officials meet Thursday at Cuneo's to plan the annual February dinner. Retired major league umpire Bill Grieve of Yonkers and Buck Ewing, fabled Chappie Johnson All Star and Mohawk Giant catcher, are being sought as speakers.

• Of Men and Mice:

Boxing's low estate at the moment is reflected in estimated attendance figures of 5,000 and $30,000 "take" for tonight's Saddler-Elorde world featherweight title bout. Saddler only happens to be one of the greatest fighters of the past 20 years. . . Gunnar Vilinskiis, the Hudson High sharpshooter, upped his career total to 1046 points with 36-point blast against Watervliet. Morris Cramer, the Albany hotshot, shot the second "300" game of his career Sunday afternoon in the Albany Classic. He posted the first 300 at Van Wert, Ohio, on Dec. 13, 1953. For his effort Cramer will get his choice of ABC 300 awards and $300 from the manufacturer of a bowling shirt he was wearing when he rolled the 300.

Ned Emerson, former Middletown Times Herald sports editor, has resigned as publicity director of Vernon Downs trotting track to accept a position as a Syracuse sales representative. . . Ex-NY Cagers figured prominently in the game in which Columbia Frosh trounced Manhattan Frosh, 97-75. Harold Kaplan scored 20 points for Columbia. Mickey Burkosi, at forward, canned 13 and Jack Shoenerberger two for Manhattan. . . 300 persons listened and talked in that Little League meeting in Albany last Sunday but the $64,000 question: (what really caused the blowup between Carl Stotz and Peter McGovern?) was never answered.

Governor to Speak At Baseball Dinner

New York, Jan. 18 (AP)—The 33rd annual dinner of the New York Baseball writers will be held Feb. 5 at the Waldorf Astoria with Gov. Harriman as the featured speaker.

Chapter president Lou Effrat said yesterday that other speakers will include managers Walter Alston of the Brooklyn Dodgers and Casey Stengel of the New York Yankees.

Arthur W. Tyler

of Rochester, N. Y., a physicist in private life, says he ran his sled through rigorous tests before the Olympics.

"We learned that an over streamlined sled takes on the characteristics of a wing," he said yesterday.

"It begins to jump sideways.

So we reduced the size of the streamlined portion. Now the sled is little lower and the cowling a little smaller, too."

Yesterday the Americans finished only behind the Italians who have been running the course in practice since

Dec. 26.

Rangers Climb Nearer Montreal

(By The Associated Press)

The New York Rangers, the surprise team of the National Hockey League, were only six points behind the league-leading but slumping, Montreal Canadiens today.

The Blueshirts, who were expected to be in a battle for the cellar instead of the top spot at the start of the season, picked up one point last night by playing to a 2-2 tie with the Chicago Black Hawks. The result left them with 51 points. Montreal has 57, but had played one more game than New York.

The Black Hawks had to come from behind in the last two minutes to gain the deadlock. Ed Litzenberger scored their first goal at 18:06 of the final session and Nick Mickoski, an ex-Ranger, knotted matters at 18:48.

Andy Heberton and Andy Bathgate scored for New York.

Miami Beach, Fla. — Jimmy Morris, 154, Miami, outpointed Joe Miceli, 149, Brooklyn, 10.

Pensacola, Fla., Jan. 18 (AP)—Police Chief Crosby Hall recommended yesterday that two white patrolmen be dismissed after charging them in the alleged attempted rape of two Negroes and the firing into a Negro doctor's home. Charges of immorality, neglect of duty and insubordination against George C. McLarty, 25, and Randall H. Sellers, 23, were filed with the Civil Service Board. Unless the officers appeal, they are automatically dismissed. Sellers declined to comment on the charges and McLarty was unavailable.

Bloody Repairs

San Diego, Calif. (AP)—The case of the damaged police car remained unofficial to the end. Two detectives, in it when it scraped the entrance to a garage, failed to make a report. Police Chief A. E. Jansen said they could pay for the damage themselves. They found, in shopping around at garages, that repairs would cost about $100. One garage man, however, remarked that the detectives looked healthy and said his sick sister needed blood for transfusions. The deal was made, unofficially—blood for repairs.

To Discuss Aid Offer

Amman, Jordan, Jan. 18 (AP)—Jordan has agreed to discuss an aid offer from Syria, Egypt and Saudi Arabia. But she made clear such help would not end her long-time close relations with Britain. Foreign Minister Hussein Fakhru Khalidi told a news conference his government "welcomed" the offer by the three Arab states which oppose the West-backed Baghdad Pact.

The American hemlock, unlike the tree whose juices killed Socrates, is not poisonous.

Premier Leads Vote

Helsinki, Finland, Jan. 18 (AP)—Finland's premier led the vote today in the first round of the nation's presidential election. The pre-election favorite, the Socialist boss of the state liquor monopoly, ran a close second. Preliminary returns gave Premier Urho Kekkonen of the Agrarian (center) party 27.7 per cent of the 1,768,689 votes cast yesterday and Monday and 89 of the 300 electors chosen.

C'MON CASEY, WE KNOW YOU—If you're having trouble recognizing the gent beneath the Japanese wig, it's Casey Stengel, manager of the New York Yankees. He's pointing at a figure of a Japanese wrestling champion, one of the souvenirs he picked up while taking the Yankees on a barnstorming tour of Japan. Casey revealed he's signed a scout to look for talent among Japanese ball players who might make the grade with the Yankees. This picture was taken in Glendale, Cal., home. (AP Wirephoto)

Jackets, Cleaners
Win 'Y' Contests

Yellow Jackets defeated the Ramblers, 69-59, and Lou's Cleaners tripped Accord, 47-41, in YMCA "B" division basketball games last night.

Paul Stokes pumped 17, Bucky Miller and John Burris 16 each and Jim Medey 14 for the Jackets. Al Short's 20 paced the Ramblers.

Charley Tiano rimmed 15 and Chill Caruso 13 for Lou's players. Tom Geiselhart's 14 paced Accord.

The box scores:

The Weather

WEDNESDAY, JAN. 18, 1956
Sun rises at 7:21 a. m.; sun sets at 4:53 p. m., EST.
Weather: Fair.

The Temperature

The lowest temperature recorded on The Freeman thermometer during the night was 22 degrees. The highest figure recorded up to noon today was 33 degrees.

Weather Forecast

NEW YORK CITY and vicinity: Fair, windy and continued cold this afternoon with highest temperature in the mid 30's. Mostly fair and continued cold tonight with the lowest temperature about 20 degrees along the coast and near 15 in the colder inland places. Thursday, increasing cloudiness with a chance of snow during the afternoon and a high temperature in the mid 30's.

EASTERN New York: Partly cloudy, moderately windy and cold today and tonight, with a few snow flurries in west and north portions. High temperature today mostly in 20's. Low temperature tonight zero to 10 above in north, 10 to 20 in south portion. Thursday increasing cloudiness; little change in temperatures.

Planes Return Safely

Aboard USS Wyandot, McMurdo Sound, Antarctica, Jan. 18 (P)—The four aerial work horses of U. S. Operation Deep-freeze flew safely back to New Zealand today, en route to the United States. All hands of the Antarctic Expedition breathed easier at the word that the two twin-engine Neptunes and two four-engine Skymasters had landed at Christchurch 11 hours and 2,250 miles after their take-off from the Ross Sea ice shelf here.

The answers to everyday insurance problems*
By HERMAN J. EATON

QUESTION: When an agent says he can "bind" coverage until he can issue an insurance policy for me, what does he mean?

ANSWER: If for some reason, usually lack of essential information, an agent can't issue a policy immediately, he can issue a "binder" which provides full protection until the policy can be written.

* If you'll address your own insurance questions to this office we'll try to give you the correct answers and there will be NO CHARGE or OBLIGATION OF ANY KIND.

Normal Temperatures Due for Northeast

Washington, Jan. 18 (P)—The Weather Bureau yesterday forecast temperatures will average above seasonal normals in the western half of the country the next 30 days.

The remainder of the 30-day outlook for mid-January to mid-February as pictured by the Weather Bureau:

"East of the Mississippi generally below normal temperatures are indicated, except for near normal in the Great Lakes area and the northeast."

Precipitation is expected to be subnormal in the southern half of the nation. Greater than normal amounts of rain and snow are predicted for the northeast, northwest and northern Rocky mountain states with near normal elsewhere."

Press Sees . . .

"brain" received and produced new information, presented a composite, up-to-the-instant picture of the air situation over scores and hundreds of miles.

The SAGE system, when fully operational, not only will receive information and "recommend" procedure to commanders. It also will steer interceptor planes to approaching enemy bombers, and, after the "brain" has decided everything is ready, it will fire the missiles or rockets of the interceptors.

Laboratory officials were asked if any other nation had a system like SAGE. They replied: "As far as we know—no." But they cautioned that if Russia chose to put out the necessary effort that nation could produce a similar warning-interception system.

Cost estimates for building a continental system range from laboratory officials' figure of "more than a billion dollars" to two billions or more, as given in congressional committees.

Jet Fighters Collide

Troy, Ohio, Jan. 18 (P)—Two air force jet fighters—screaming past each other in simulated radar-guided attacks—crashed seven miles above earth last night. One pilot, Capt. B. E. Thayer, 29, apparently ejected himself from his disabled craft and parachuted safely to earth. The other, First Lt. J. J. Schulte, 27, was killed. His badly mutilated body was found near the wreckage of his plane.
